New T. B. Hospital Plans Progressing

Will Soon be Completed and Submitted to State Health Authorities For Approval—Bids Asked for Sewer, Gas and Water Pipe Line Trench.

Activities leading to the construction of the new tuberculosis hospital will shortly be under way. At the present time plans for the new hospital are being completed and will shortly be submitted to the State Department of Health for approval. Some preliminary work will be undertaken immediately and bids are now being sought for the construction of the trench which will carry the water pipe line, sewer and gas line to the new site. Bids are being sought for this work and an advertisement is now appearing in The Freeman soliciting bids for this work.

The contract calls for the excavation and back fill of the trench running from the present water main and sewer line at the end of Washington avenue through the Boulevard to the site of the hospital on the hill. This contract, which will be let in one parcel, calls for the digging of the trench which while it houses the water main, sewer and gas main, will be really one job. The trench will be dug to a considerable depth and the eight-inch sewer laid on one side. This line will be covered and on top and at one side will be laid the eight-inch water main, from the present sixteen-inch main in the city street, and also the gas line.

The contract also includes the construction of a pump house at the foot of the hill, in which will be installed a booster pump for supplying an adequate water pressure to the hospital. Plans call for the construction of a pump house at the foot of the hill which will house an automatic pump to boost the pressure to from 60 to 70 pounds at the main on top of the hill at the hospital.

Work on the water main, sewer and gas line is in preparation for the letting of the general contract as soon as plans have been completed and approved by the state department.

The trench will be of a type known as a shelf trench which will house all of the pipes to supply the hospital.

On account of the elevation of the hospital, which is on a hill approximately the height of the First Dutch Church steeple, it will be necessary to install a booster pump to give an adequate supply of water for all needs. The pump will be electrically driven and automatic in operation assuring the hospital of a full supply of water at all times.

One of the features of the system will be the operation of the plant in case of fire. A fire alarm box will be installed at the hospital with pull switches inside the building. In case of fire any one of these switches when pulled will automatically start the pump in operation so that when the fire department arrives on the scene there will be a working pressure of from 60 to 70 pounds at the main immediately available.

Bids for this work are being sought by the committee on Tuberculosis Hospital, appointed by the board of supervisors, and bids must be in by May 3 at 2 o'clock when they will be opened.

Near Final Vote On Flood Control

Washington, April 24 (AP).—With opponents of the administration clearly in command, the house moved today toward a final vote on the Senate-Jones flood control bill.

Supporters of the measure steadfastly clung to their position, and, in the face of repeated predictions that the measure would receive a presidential veto, refused to accede to several revisions desired by the White House.

Several important voting skirmishes were in the immediate offing today, with indications pointing to another defeat for the administration forces. They were beaten late yesterday in a major engagement on an amendment to have states, rather than the federal government, shoulder the cost of levee rights of way along spillways and floodways in Missouri, Arkansas, and Louisiana.

This amendment, rejected by a vote of 142 to 73, also would have provided that southern Illinois and southeastern Missouri be responsible for any damages that might result from the construction of the new Madrid riverbank floodway and, in addition, held the city of New Orleans liable for any damages that might occur from the building of the Bonnet Carre spillway.

Over this proposal, however, the widest difference had developed between President Coolidge and the senate bill supporters, and Chairman Reid of the house flood control committee, who is in charge of the measure, declared that it was the one revision sought by the White House to which he could not agree. It was defeated by a coalition of western Republicans and almost the solid Democratic membership.

Ohio Voters Balloting Today

Hoover Facing His First Real Test of Strength in Primary Battle—Light Vote Forecast Although Fight Involves Organization Control.

Columbus, Ohio, April 24 (AP).—Split by factional strife, Ohio Republicans today got down to the selection of their delegation to the Kansas City convention with their verdict at the polls certain to have a far reaching effect on the Presidential aspirations of Secretary Hoover and other Republicans.

In the state's primary, Hoover faced his first real test of strength since he became an avowed candidate for the Republican nomination. One slate of 51 delegates before the voters was pledged to the commerce secretary, another originally was committed to the candidacy of the late Senator Willis.

Bitter from the outset, the primary campaign was given an unusual turn by the death of Willis several weeks ago, an event which upset political calculations and made the result today difficult to forecast. One result has been the announcement that the Willis delegates, if successful, might turn at Kansas City to Lowden, Hughes, Curtiss, Coolidge or Dawes, who was born in Ohio.

Involved in the struggles which came to a showdown today, is a fight for control of the Republican state organization, with Hoover supporters aiming to oust leaders who have been active in opposition to the commerce secretary.

In contrast with the strife in the Republican camp, Ohio Democrats have had little friction. The organization slate of 48 delegates to the Houston convention, being voted on today, is committed to support of former Senator Atlee Pomerene at the outset of balloting. No names are listed on the Democratic Presidential ballot, while on the Republican are the names of Hoover, Willis and Olin J. Ross, a Columbus lawyer.

Little interest has been taken in the preferential balloting because its result will not be binding on the Republican delegates.

In fact, despite the inter-party warfare centering around Hoovers' candidacy, there has been considerable apathy on the part of the voters and a rather light vote today, even among Republicans, had been forecast.

Hoover supporters and foes alike were confident of capturing a majority of the delegates. The commerce secretary was expected to poll his heaviest vote in the larger cities, such as Cleveland, Cincinnati and Toledo, while opposition to him appeared most pronounced in the rural sections.

LEGION AND BATTERY DANCE ON MAY 2

Another moonlight dance under the auspices of the drum corps of the American Legion and the non-coms of Battery B, 156th Field Artillery, will be held in the armory on Wednesday evening, May 2. It is planned to run a series of these dances during the summer. The first dance which was held last week was well patronized and many are looking forward to the next one. Music for the occasion will be furnished by Maisenhelder's orchestra. A refreshment stand will be in operation during the dance. Tickets may be secured of members of the Battery, Legion drum corps or at the armory, Legion building, Murphy's news store on the Strand or the flower Shop, corner of Broadway and St. James street.

REED ENTERS PRIMARY IN WEST VIRGINIA

Washington, April 24 (AP).—Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, has decided to enter his name in the Democratic Presidential primary in West Virginia.

John Lewis, a Washington attorney and supporter of the Senator, is now enroute to Charleston with the Senator's petition to have his name placed on the primary ballot.

Reed recently campaigned in West Virginia and it was as a result of events there then that he decided to enter the campaign.

Ulster Court Has Some Rights

So Judge Fowler Declares in Deciding That Lawyers Cannot Ignore Duties Here in Order to Take up Cases Elsewhere—Another Suspended Sentence.

At a prior term of county court an indictment found against Morris Levine of the town of Wawarsing at the September, 1927, grand jury was moved over the term and it was stipulated that the case should be tried at the present term of county court. Judge William D. Cunningham appeared for Levine, who is charged with keeping a disorderly house. When the case was moved for trial last week by District Attorney Traver The People were met with an affidavit of Judge Cunningham stating that he would be unable to try the case at this time as he was engaged in actual trial work at White Plains in a civil action. He asked that the case go over the term. It was put over until Monday afternoon when county court again convened. A new affidavit was presented stating that Judge Cunningham was actually engaged in court and on this affidavit the case was again postponed. Mr. Kelder of Judge Cunningham's office stated that it was very probable that Judge Cunningham would be unable to try the case later in the week as he had another civil action which probably would immediately follow the one now on trial. Objection was made to the Levine case being put over the term on the grounds that Judge Cunningham might be compelled to take up another case when the one he is now engaged in is finished.

Judge Fowler stated that the fact that Judge Cunningham was engaged in trial work now was a legal excuse but for him to take up another case for trial after the one in which he is now engaged is finished, without first trying the criminal case in county court here, which was now being held, was not an excuse. The Levine case was set down for 10 o'clock Thursday morning and the court notified Mr. Kelder to inform Judge Cunningham of that fact and to make arrangements to be present Thursday when the present case now on trial in Westchester county is finished. Judge Fowler said he would not take as an excuse the fact that Judge Cunningham was to take up another case after the one now on trial is finished as the court in this county has some rights which should be honored.

A recess was taken for half an hour and the complainants in the case of The People against Charles P. Rougier were asked to confer and report to the court when it reconvened. Following the conference Frank W. Brooks, who appeared for the defendant, entered a plea of guilty for defendant. Rougier, it is alleged, drove his car into a crowd of men, women and children some time ago as they were enjoying a fishing party along the Devil's Lake just outside the city limits in the town of Ulster. Several of the persons were severely injured.

Following the conference Judge Fowler stated that the complainants had taken a very lenient attitude in the case and merely sought to be compensated for their injuries and in view of that attitude he would postpone imposition of sentence until the September term of court. In the meantime the bail now on deposit by the defendant will be turned over to the county probation officer to be distributed among the persons injured. The final disposition of the case will be made at the September term of court.

Court recessed until 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

Governor Smith Back in New York

New York, April 24 (AP).—Tanned from his two weeks under the North Carolina sun, Governor Smith was back in New York today, the proposed extension of his vacation to include several days at Absecon, N. J., vetoed by rainy weather.

As his train was pulling into the Pennsylvania station, Governor Smith dictated a statement in which he said he was gratified at the cordial welcome extended him by the south and that he had found the people there little different from those he knew in his home state.

Governor Smith went to his suite at the Biltmore Hotel from the train. He said his plans were indefinite.

In some places, however, daylight saving began as early as March 2, and in others it will be inaugurated [illegible] June.

Some form of daylight saving will be observed in all or part of the cities of Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Vermont, New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, New Hampshire, Pennsylvania, Delaware, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin.

Music Question May Be Settled For Convention

National Headquarters of Musicians' Union Asked to Lift Ban for One Day on "Unfair" Bands for Firemen's Parade Here in June.

That the question of "unfair" music which is troubling the annual convention of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association may be amicably settled appears to be the opinion of all interested in the matter. At the close of the meeting of the general committee in charge of the convention held here Monday evening a committee of three appointed from that body met with three representatives of the local Musicians' Union and drafted a letter to President Edward Weber of the American Federation of Musicians asking that the ban against the Junior Order of American Mechanics' Band and Ferraro's Band of Glasco be lifted for the day of the firemen's parade.

Music Question Raised.

Edward P. Ward, president of the Musicians' Local No. 215, and John A. Cole, secretary of the local, attended the general committee meeting and were extended the privilege of the floor. The position taken by the union musicians was explained in detail by Mr. Ward, who said that unless the ban was lifted against the two bands that the union bands had no recourse but to refuse to parade with them.

It was brought out that approximately 70 per cent of the fire companies which will take part in the parade here in June will have non-union bands. It also appeared that there is a distinction between "non-union" and "unfair" bands. The union bands do not refuse to parade with a "non-union" band, but are not allowed to parade with an "unfair" band. An "unfair" band is one that goes out and competes against a union band by either playing for less money or furnishing more men in the band for the same amount of money.

Both the Mechanics' Band and the Ferraro Band are on the "unfair" list.

May Settle Question.

As many of the bands had been engaged by fire companies long before the music question arose it was stated that no question would be raised to parading with non-union bands, provided the representatives of the union were allowed to appear before the convention in June and request the convention to go on record as favoring the employing of union bands only in the future.

In drafting the letter to the national president of the musicians' union it was asked that the ban against the two bands mentioned be lifted for the day of the parade only as both bands had been hired before the question had been raised in regard to "unfair" and "fair" bands.

Convention Badges.

The badge committee for the convention reported it had awarded the badge contract to Andrew J. Murphy, Jr., to furnish 900 badges. The design on the badge will follow closely the suggestions made recently by Judge A. T. Clearwater. If more badges are required they will be furnished at the same price, fifty cents each.

Old Vets to Parade.

It was voted to set aside $100 to convey the veterans in the Firemen's Home at Hudson to Kingston the day of the parade and that the veterans be placed in automobiles and assigned a position in the line of march.

The Brewster Fire Company of Newburgh wrote asking permission to stage a minstrel show here, and a committee was appointed to take up the matter and report at the next meeting.

A petition from the merchants of North Front street asking that the line of march be changed to include that street was referred to the parade committee.

Several routine matters were disposed of and the committee adjourned to May 8.

WARBURG GIVES MILLION FOR JEWISH RELIEF.

New York, April 24 (AP).—Announcement was made today of a gift by Felix M. Warburg of $1,000,000 as part of the American quota of $10,000,000 to set up Jewish agricultural colonies in Russia.

The contribution makes a total of $6,500,000 raised by the Joint American Jewish Committee to match a conditional $10,000,000 offered by the Soviet government to re-establish Jews on farms in Russia.

MAHARAJAH AND BRIDE SAIL FOR MARSEILLES.

Karachi, India, April 24 (AP).—Sir Tukoji Rao, former Maharajah of Indore, and his latest Maharanee, the former Nancy Ann Miller of Seattle, Washington, sailed today on the Steamship City of Baroda for Marseilles, France. From there they will go to an unrevealed destination.

The departure of the Indian prince and his American wife aroused much interest. Large crowds attempted to get a glimpse of the miner's daughter who embraced Hinduism.

Two Arrests Made.

Knapp Trial Set for May 1

Former Secretary of State is at Liberty, Under Bond for $12,000—Twelve Indictments, Ranging From Grand Larceny to Forgery.

Albany, April 24 (AP).—Former Secretary of State Florence E. S. Knapp today was at liberty in bail of $12,000 with 12 indictments returned against her in connection with her conduct of the 1925 state census.

Her trial on a charge of grand larceny, first degree, has been set for May 1. The eleven other indictments against the former state official charge false audit and certification of public records; forgery, second degree; grand larceny, first and second degree, and aiding and abetting a notary public in making a false affidavit.

With the return of four indictments yesterday, the special grand jury investigation of Mrs. Knapp's conduct during the state enumeration was believed closed. Supreme Court Justice Stephen Callaghan, after accepting its report, granted the grand jury a recess until Friday morning at 10 o'clock. It was intimated by members of the prosecution staff that the grand jury would not be adjourned, but would be reconvened from time to time until Mrs. Knapp's trial has been completed.

New York state's first elected woman official was to have been tried April 30 on a charge of false audit and certification of public records in connection with an expense voucher for $89.16, dated September 30, 1925, and covering a trip to the eastern states exposition at Springfield, Mass., by Mrs. Knapp and her secretary, Mrs. Luella V. Ninde. Mrs. Ninde's name appeared on the voucher as an assistant supervisor of the census, but she was understood to have testified before the grand jury that she did not go to Springfield.

George Z. Medalie, special prosecutor, substituted the more serious charge of grand larceny as the one on which Mrs. Knapp was to be tried first after a conference with Justice Callaghan and John J. Conway, chief of defense counsel. It was expected that Mr. Conway would ask for an extension of time to prepare for trial, but he left the courtroom before the substitution was announced.

The next step in the prosecution of the former state official will be the drawing of a special panel of 150 trial jurors on Thursday, Justice Callaghan announced. Defense attorneys will be allowed ten premptory challenges in selecting the trial jury.

Mrs. Knapp, if convicted, faces a possible maximum sentence of 10 years in prison. As she is to be tried as a first offender her minimum sentence, if convicted, must not exceed five years. Prosecuting officials have intimated that if she is convicted on one charge the other eleven charges will not be pressed.

The indictment charges Mrs. Knapp with the theft of the proceeds of a census salary check for $2,875.-06, dated November 27, 1925, drawn to the order of C. B. Knapp, believed to be Clara Blanche Knapp, stepdaughter of the former state official, who is employed as a teacher in Middlebury College, Middlebury, Vt.

Testimony is understood to have disclosed that Mrs. Knapp used the proceeds of the check to pay a personal account in a Syracuse department store.

Krebs Found Dead In His Home

Jacob Krebs was found dead on the floor of his home at 47 German street, early Monday evening by neighbors, who missing him, had looked through the windows and saw his body on the floor. Death was due to apoplexy and he had been dead for several hours when the body was discovered.

Mr. Krebs resided alone. He has a sister residing at Bay Ridge, Brooklyn, and she was notified of her brother's death and ordered the body turned over to Jensen & Perry, undertakers.

A week ago Monday, Mr. Krebs on his way home from work fell on the sidewalk and broke his nose. At that time he was removed to the City of Kingston Hospital in the police car where his injury was dressed.

Coroner W. Norman Conner, who had been notified of the finding of the body, made an examination and decided death was due to natural causes. Dr. Francis E. O'Conner, who had responded to a telephone call when the body was found, stated death was due to cerebral apoplexy.

Rain Helps Firemen.

Eastport, Maine, April 24 (AP).—The factory and other buildings of the Blanchard Manufacturing and Canning Company were burned today with a loss estimated at between $150,000 and $200,000. With a 50-mile gale blowing the city was threatened with a repetition of the conflagration which swept over it in 1886, but a heavy rain aided the firemen in bringing it under control.

Court Decides Against Women.

Ottawa, April 24 (AP).—The supreme court of Canada decided in a judgment rendered today that women are not entitled to appointments to the Canadian Senate under the terms of the British North American act.

Storm Delays Bremen and Ford Relief Plane

Both Are Stormbound at Greenly Island—Bremen Said to Have Been Repaired and Ready to Start on First Leg of Flight to New York.

Lake St. Agnes, Que., April 24, (by The Canadian Press).—A report received by the Canadian Transcontinental Airways here this morning said that the Bremen and the Ford relief plane were stormbound at Greenly Island.

The message, received by Robert Cannon of the company, said that snow was falling and a strong northeast wind blowing at the tiny island where the transatlantic plane made a forced landing ten days ago.

The Bremen was said to have been put in readiness for continuing its flight to New York with the parts carried to Greenly Island yesterday by the Ford plane.

Waiting here to accompany the Bremen to New York is Clarence Chamberlin, New York to Germany flier, and Edward Kelley, representative of Mayor Walker, of New York. They flew here from Hartford, Conn., to give Baron von Huenefeld, Captain Koehl and Major Fitzmaurice their first semi-official American welcome and pilot them to the welcome awaiting them in the Metropolis.

The relief plane made the 500 mile flight from Seven Islands, where it had been delayed by the weather, to the Bremen in six and a half hours.

Ready When Relief Plane Came.

Everything was to have been in readiness for the Junkers mechanic, who was a passenger in the relief plane, to start repairs on the big German ship immediately. The bent propeller had been removed, the plane had been propped up on gasoline tins and boards and it is believed the work of replacing her broken undercarriage and putting on the new propeller probably started immediately.

Meet Army Planes at Albany.

The Bremen's flight from Lake Ste. Agnes to New York will not be the lonesome trip that the ocean crossing was. The Ford relief plane, Chamberlin and Kelly and at least one other plane carrying newspapermen and photographers will take off with her from Lake Ste. Agnes. At Albany, N. Y., twelve army planes are to meet the air cavalcade for the last miles of the trip.

Polar Fliers Repairing Plane

Anxious to Leave Spitzbergen But Whether They Will Attempt to Fly Over Ice Is Not Known.

Oslo, Norway, April 24 (AP).—Work of repairing the undercart of the airplane in which Captain George H. Wilkins and his co-pilot, Carl B. Eielson, flew across hitherto unexplored Polar wastes, was under way today at Green Harbor, Spitzbergen.

Wilkins was understood to be anxious to leave for Norway by steamer as soon as possible, but whether the work of repairing the plane indicated that the men instead would attempt to fly over the ice which blocks their path to Europe was not known. Wilkins, writing his record of the flight, was silent and so was Eielson as he labored on the plane.

It did not seem possible that they would fly from Green Harbor, however, since the plane's fuel was stated to have been almost exhausted in the long flight from Point Barrow, Alaska.

The first available boat for Norway probably will not sail before the middle of May when the ice that surrounds Spitzbergen breaks up.

In the meantime they are living at the radio station which is well stocked with food and spending much of their time indoors resting.

The New York Times printed a copyrighted dispatch from Wilkins today which said that the plane's wireless, although carefully tested in advance of the flight and husbanded until the actual start, gave out before the flyers landed after running "for many hours".

Wilkins attributed the failure of his plane to rise from the ice at Point Barrow on Friday, April 13, solely to that "unlucky" day. Two days later, after 48 hours' hard shovelling, the plane took the air and the flyers were on their way.

Three Days To Thaw Out.

Green Harbor, Spitzbergen, April 24 (AP).—Three days in the warmth of the wireless station here had succeeded today in thawing out Captain George H. Wilkins after the frigid experiences he and his co-pilot, Carl B. Eielson, had on their trip from Point Barrow, Alaska, especially the five days they were marooned on Dead Man's Island.

The fliers said that when they landed on Dead Man's Island they did not know just where they were, as their maps of the Spitzbergen district were very primitive. This island is said to be well known by Norwegian explorers and is about twelve and a half miles long running east and west.

During their stay on Dead Man's Island a snowstorm raged and it was bitter cold. The airmen were forced to keep inside their plane.

On arriving at Green Harbor the first thing Wilkins and Eielson did was to cover the airplane with a double canvas cover to avert too fast refrigeration. This had to be done in extreme cold and without gloves.

Wilkins Becomes Talkative.

Captain Wilkins is making himself perfectly at home and becoming more talkative. He is walking about in trousers of reindeer skin and sealskin boots for such outdoor exercise as he cares to take. Every morning at five he receives bunches of telegrams which he accepts smilingly and peruses, disposing of them later. He puts in most of the day working hard indoors.

Eielson, in contrast, spends most of his time resting on a sofa, smoking his pipe and reading. As he is of Norwegian origin, he loves to talk the language and the people have found he retains the dialect of his fathers, although even his parents were born in America. He is delighted at the idea of going to Norway for the first time to meet the members of his family there and to see the birthplace of his grandparents.

FIRE DAMAGES AUBURN ATHLETIC CLUB BUILDING

Auburn, N. Y., April 24 (AP).—Fire of unknown origin, starting in the rooms of the Roman Athletic Club on the third floor of the Pearson building, at Genesee and Exchange streets early today caused damage estimated at $30,000.

The flames were confined to the rear of the building occupied on the second and first floors by the local post of the G. A. R., and the offices of the city water department.

Our Growing Population.

The following births have been reported to the board of health:

Mr. and Mrs. Allen J. Scribner, West Hurley, a daughter, Muriel Janette, at City of Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hickey, 129 Broadway, a daughter, Marjorie.

Wilkins Planning South Polar Flight

Declines Offer From Commander Byrd to Sell Plane Which Carried Him Over Top of the World.

Green Harbor, Spitzbergen, April 24 (AP).—Captain George H. Wilkins, scarcely landed from his great feat of flying across the top of the world by airplane, already is planning a new air venture, this time over the Antarctic at the other end of the world.

The captain has received a telegraphic offer from Commander Richard E. Byrd, who also is planning an Antarctic expedition, to sell the Wilkins Polar plane for the commander's South Polar trip, but Wilkins replied that he was unable to accept the offer as he himself is planning a new expedition, this time to the south.

He hopes to start on his new venture as soon as possible, probably at the beginning of September, and has roughly drawn up a program for the projected exploration. Beyond this he refuses to give out any information.

He said, however, that with such an excellent airplane as that which carried him and Lieutenant Carl B. Eielson across the Polar region from Point Barrow, and with such a glorious pilot as Eielson, he entertained the best hope of success.

Wilkins said that he felt very comfortable at Green Harbor and expressed astonishment that he had found here regular comfortable Norwegian houses. As he gets time, he will construct a snow hut like a beehive to demonstrate the dwellings as they are at Point Barrow.

Among congratulations which Wilkins has received is a telegram from King Haakon of Norway.

BAIL CONTINUED IN ARSON CASE OF MRS. HOOK.

In county court Monday afternoon Francis C. Merritt, who appeared for Mrs. Antoinette K. Hook at the recent trial of the arson indictment against Mrs. Hook, asked the court to draw an extra panel of jurors and immediately retry the action which resulted in a disagreement of the jury last week. Judge Fowler stated that it would be impossible to do so at this term, as there would be a trial term of supreme court convening in this city on May 7, and time would not allow the retrial of the arson case at this time. The actual trial took over a week and resulted in a disagreement. The jury, it is said, was equally divided for acquittal and conviction.

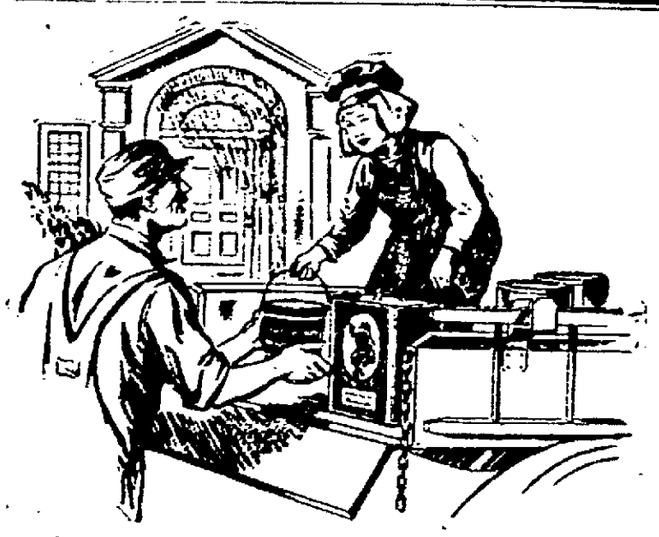

Mr. Merritt stated that he desired the case disposed of in one way or another at this term and asked for immediate trial, which was denied. Bail was continued.

Double Dry Forces In Detroit Area

Detroit, April 24 (AP).—Customs border patrol forces in the Detroit area are to be almost doubled and 27 additional coast guard boats are to be placed on Lake Erie and the Detroit river in a new drive against the smuggling of liquor into the United States from Canada.

This program for increased vigilance was announced today following a conference of national prohibition enforcement and customs chiefs with local federal enforcement officials.

Seymour Lowman, assistant secretary of the treasury, who attended the conference, declared that Detroit, in spite of satisfactory enforcement already accomplished, still offers the most complicated problem to the prohibition and customs department.

"To combat the situation here and at Buffalo and along Lake Erie and the Detroit river, we will soon bring to this section 27 coast guard boats from the Atlantic coast," Lowman said. He said that 75 men would be added to the customs border patrol here, increasing the force from 90 to 165.

MILTON

Milton, April 23 — Charlotte, wife of Frank Lugar, a resident of Milton for the past eight years, died at her home, River View Place, on Sands avenue, last Tuesday evening after a lingering illness. She was in her 81st year. Besides her husband she is survived by a nephew and neice, Frank L. Smith and wife of Scarsdale, N. Y., and was one of a large family all of whom are now deceased. Mrs. Lugar was born in Bavaria, Germany, and came to America sixty years ago. Ten years later she was united in marriage to Frank Lugar. PILOT FLOYD BENNETT'S CONDITION VERY LOW

Quebec, April 24 (AP).—Floyd Bennett, who contracted double pneumonia while on a relief flight to the disabled Bremen, was "resting somewhat more comfortably, but very low," this morning. This bulletin was issued at the Jeffrey Hale Hospital where both Mr. and Mrs. Bennett are patients.

Mrs. Bennett, who disregarded the advice of physicians, to join her husband, was reported improved from the acute tonsilitis from which she is suffering.

Bennett, who gained fame in 1926 when he flew over the North Pole as pilot for Commander Richard E. Byrd, was stricken on his arrival at Murray Bay last Friday as pilot of the Ford relief plane for the stranded German fliers at Greenly Island. He had left a sickbed in Detroit to make the trip.

JAMES REYNOLDS OF POUGHKEEPSIE MISSING

An intensive search is being made for 71-year-old James Reynolds, member of one of Poughkeepsie's oldest families and prominent as a sportsman, clubman and life insurance broker, who is believed to have committed suicide after leaving his home in Poughkeepsie on Thursday in a state of apparent mental depression.

A brief note expressing suicidal intentions sent to his wife, who was Helen Southgate, daughter of Captain and Mrs. Thomas Southgate of Norfolk, led to the belief that Mr. Reynolds might have ended his life by jumping from a New York-Boston boat of the Eastern Steamship Company. However, a report from the office of that concern disclosed no news of anyone having jumped overboard. It is also said that his name was not on any recent passenger lists.

Senators Clash on Smith Expenses

Senator Edwards Denies That Jersey City Mayor Is Paying New Jersey Delegates' Expenses in Exchange for Smith Support.

Washington, April 24 (AP).—Senators Edwards of New Jersey and Heflin of Alabama locked horns in the Senate today over the campaign expenses of Governor Smith of New York.

Challenged by Edwards to prove his statement that Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City was paying the expenses of delegates of that state to the Houston convention, the Alabaman reported that the Smith managers were carrying on "the most corrupt campaign from the standpoint of the use of money in the history of the party."

Edwards took the floor to describe as "untrue from beginning to end" recent remarks of Heflin concerning Hague's activities. "Let me repeat," he said, "the unfair and libelous charges hurled at Mayor Frank Hague and the Democrats of New Jersey by the Alabama Senator are untrue and I herewith challenge Senator Heflin to substantiate them, either in whole or in part."

Heflin replied that he was merely reading a story in the Trenton Evening Times that Hague was paying expenses of the New Jersey delegates to the convention in exchange for Smith support. He said he accepted the statement of Senator Edwards, who will be one of the delegates, that his expenses were not being paid.

The Alabaman then launched into another attack against Smith's campaign, declaring that "earmarks" of the use of money by the Smith forces had been found in North Carolina.

"They have bought up newspapers, dailies and weeklies in the south," he said. "They are throttling and stifling the vehicles carrying information to the public. This is one man. He is using a machine, Tammany, obtaining money from abroad and the whisky interests to campaign for the Presidency."

Heflin read a letter which he said was sent to him from California by G. D. Cummings, enclosing a newspaper advertisement for Governor Smith as a Presidential nominee. He read the letter, which asked "Who is putting up the money for all this advertising?" and "Is the Pope putting it up?"

Fear Expressed For Safety of Men Captured by Sandino—Great Difficulty In Reaching Mines.

Managua, Nicaragua, April 24 (AP).—American Marines faced a hazardous task today in wresting from Rebel General Augustino Sandino two American gold mines he was believed to have seized with their staffs. Fear was expressed for the safety of the captured men.

W. J. Crampton, collector of customs at Puerto Cabezas on the northeast coast, reported two mines near the headquarters of the Pis Pis river have been robbed by rebels.

While neither Marine headquarters nor the American lexation received farther information from Nicaraguan sources, it was believed that La Luz Y Los Angeles and Bonanza mines were seized. This belief was strengthened on receipt of word from New York that La Luz Y Los Angeles mine had been confiscated and its staff, including three Americans, an Englishman and a Norwegian, made prisoner.

With the rainy season beginning and making troop movements difficult, it is almost impossible to reach the Pis Pis mining section from the interior and it will be necessary to send Marines up the Prinzapolka river in small Indian canoes known as pitpans. Later the Marines will have to make an overland march of two or three days to the mining region which is about 150 miles inland from Prinzapolka on the east coast. This march will be a hazardous trip through a tropical jungle.

La Luz Y Los Angeles mine has been worked for more than twenty years and is considered one of the richest in Nicaragua.

Those held prisoner by Sandino, as identified by D. Watson Fletcher, of New York, one of the owners of the La Luz Y Los Angeles mine, are: Harry P. Amphlett, a British subject, superintendent; George B. Marshall, of New York, assistant superintendent; L. B. Milberry, of Woodsville, N. H.; Roy Burley, also an American; and Peter Petersen, a Norwegian.

Fletcher said that as soon as he learned of the seizure he talked to Secretary Kellogg by telephone from New York and was assured that everything possible would be done to rescue the prisoners. Fletcher understood that Marines would be sent from Bluefields, which is on the east coast of Nicaragua.

KINGSTON, N. Y., APRIL 24, 1928.

THE CAUSES OF WAR.

Henry Kittredge Norton, author of "Back of War," points out in that book that there are at least 23 causes of war. Five of these are primitive and have already been more or less eliminated. They are plunder, land, conquest, honor and revenge.

Another five are social and are still very active forces in the world. They are dynastic ambitions, racial rivalry, religious intolerance, patriotism and nationalism.

A third group is composed of economic causes, which are still far from a permanent, peaceful solution. They are food supply, surplus population, trade, colonies and imperialism.

The last eight causes he calls political. They are national unity, national prestige, internal unrest, foreign intrigue, armaments, alliances and treaties, diplomacy, propaganda.

It will be seen that some of the items in these different groups overlap. Very few of them can be brought to any solution merely by signatures on dotted lines. To win through them to peace will require much determination, hard study, a good deal of give and take between nations, an earnest seeking after genuine mutual understanding, recognition of a slowly dawning truth that the best good of any people cannot be attained at the expense of any other people.

Getting at world peace by eliminating or harmonizing these 23 possible causes of war ought to be more attractive to thinking beings than warfare. Here are problems for minds to tackle, for faith and courage and vision. Would not exercising those human qualities be more satisfactory than firing guns or pouring deadly chemicals all over the landscape?

COLLEGE BOY SALESMEN.

It was a pity to become suspicious soon after the war of the soldiers who asked business at the door on the strength of their military service, but the discovery that fake soldiers were also presenting themselves made doubt and hesitation inevitable. It is a pity now to become suspicious of youths who ask consideration on the ground that they are working their way through college, but unfortunately there is reason for doubt when a smiling young stranger presents that plea when soliciting book or magazine sales. There is news of one man who was caught for about $60 of worthless magazine subscriptions when the salesman presented a properly endorsed identification card. When the periodicals failed to come an investigaton established the fact that the card had been stolen.

It is too bad that in consequence of such practices many worthy young students may be deprived of a legitimate means of earning their way, but the fake students are rapidly doing this. In the latest issue of the Columbia Alumni News there is a warning by the alumni secretary of the same fraud of which newspaper correspondents have complained. The notice states that complaint has been made to the alumni office of a salesman who calls on alumni to sell them a set of books, succeeding in many cases by pretending to be an official representative of the Columbia Alumni Federation. The secretary wishes it known that neither he nor any other salesman represents the organization.

SHORT DINNERS.

Americans who like to eat and run will be encouraged by the news from Mayfair, London. Dinners are to be shorter. Fashionable hostesses agree to that, by way of reaction from dinners so long as to leave no time for dancing.

One used to go to a dinner to dine. Now, it seems, one goes to a dinner to dance. Or to hear speeches. Or maybe have a little game afterward.

This London change is harking back to blunt King Edward, who was a bon vivant but nevertheless refused to sit at a dinner table longer than one hour.

An hour really ought to be enough to eat a meal. People who eat longer than that probably eat more than is good for them. Or they are wearied by hard chairs and the long-continued strain of dining-room manners. It's all right if there is good talk. But good conversation is rather rare nowadays.

Good speeches, with good cigars, are something else. People pretend to be bored with sitting around a table listening to oratory, but many they really like it if it is good. But it is not always good. Too many speakers substitute quantity for quality and seem about destitute of terminal facilities.

CENTRAL-AMERICAN TROY

T. A. Willard, the mining factory man has been studying and supporting Mayan archeology for 25 years and has written a book about it. Now he has struck a new lead and is going to write another book. Apparently it is a sort of Iliad in prose. He has gathered a Helen-of-Troy tale from the manuscripts of the Tiger Priests, supposedly duplicates of the ancient records the Spaniards destroyed.

According to these old chronicles the Maya nation, with its proud capital at Chichen-Itza, fought a great war over a woman, and then came its downfall. It sounds much like the famous Helen story.

That may have been the case. But any fair-minded person who has been around a bit, in life and history, will have noticed man's incurable disposition to blame his misfortune on woman.

Mayan downfall might also have been caused, to some extent, by a form of religious worship which consisted largely in throwing girls into a "sacred well" for crocodiles to eat.

HEART AND RHEUMATISM.

Rheumatism has been so damaging to the nation's health in Great Britain that the Minister of Health is doing all in his power to learn the cause, and institute preventive treatment.

Why is rheumatism so serious?

Not only because of its crippling effects upon those afflicted, but because it is responsible for more cases of heart disease than any other one thing.

In each 1,000 deaths heart ailments carried off 142, cancer 117, and tuberculosis only 82. And of these heart ailments 40 per cent were due to rheumatism.

What is rheumatism?

It is an infection that progresses slowly, with periods of severity, and again periods of apparent recovery.

It usually enters the system by means of the tonsils, and unfortunately in boys and girls up to the age of puberty, it is likely to attack the heart.

In older folks, while attacking the heart in half the cases, it affects the membrane surrounding joints, and you have the typical swelling of the joints known as acute rheumatism.

Up to a few years ago what was known as growing pains, was not considered as anything to cause alarm, whereas now these pains are considered one of the signs of rheumatism. "These pains constitute the danger signal of rheumatism."

When these growing pains are present and the youngster has bad tonsils, it is considered wise to have tonsils removed.

You will remember that I spoke of the investigation of rheumatism in the boys' preparatory schools in England, and it was found that 95 per cent of the cases had bad tonsils.

The Ministry's report states that removing tonsils does not always prevent an attack, because there is often some infection in the glands adjoining the tonsils, and it may take two or three years for these glands to discharge all the poison they contain into the system and thence out of the body.

However, if the tonsils are removed no more poison can be manufactured anyway, and that is bound to lessen the number of attacks.

So if your youngster has growing pains, bad tonsils, seems restless, has nose bleed occasionally, think of what rheumatism may mean to him in the days to come. Not only stiffening and crippling the body, but actually causing most of the heart disease in the world.

Early treatment, with the removal of the tonsils when indicated, and careful treatment after an attack of rheumatism, may so conserve the heart, that it will give efficient service thereafter.

EXPERIENCE

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

WHITE-HAIRED, stoop-shouldered, beset with age,
A man who knows by heart the page
That other men must turn today.
Surely the world must love the sage,
Respect the words that old men say.

But old men learn one lesson more,
After the heart has learned the rest:
That youth cares little for the lore,
The knowledge, by old men possessed.
For youth would rather life explore
Than ask the old which way is best.

For life is not an enterprise
That men can master in a school;
Man finds the truth because he tries,
And in exceptions finds the rule;
Perhaps the wisest of the wise
Are those who first have played the fool.

Although our words are often spurned,
Although the world will listen not,
A lesson that is quickly learned
Is just as easily forgot.
Only the man that fire has burned
Believes that fire is really hot.

THE WHY of SUPERSTITIONS

By H. IRVING KING

SETTING EGGS ON SUNDAY

IT IS a rather general belief all over the country that if you set a hen on Sunday the result will be that most of the eggs will hatch out roosters. In one section they declare that all the eggs will hatch roosters. The reason for this piece of hen-yard superstition—the hen-yard seems to be a place especially haunted by superstitions—is that in our nomenclature we still dedicate the first day of the week to the sun god—it is still the sun's day—and the cock, from most ancient times, was a sun bird.

Primitive man found that out from the way in which the cock heralded and saluted the sun's daily rising and so the cock became associated with the sun in all the old mythologies. It is true that this bird was a favorite sacrifice to Aesculapius, the god of medicine, but that was because Aesculapius was the son of Apollo, who represented the light-and-life-giving power of the sun as well as its deadly power and was often identified with the sun god Helios. The cock is the sun's bird, and what more natural then than if you set a hen on Sunday the eggs will hatch into roosters? This superstition is only one of the many relics of sun-worship which still hang about the hen-yard.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

"BOTH SIDES OF SHIELD"

WHEN people are arguing or discussing a question they are admonished by the peacemaker to "look at both sides of the shield," meaning "get the other fellow's point of view." The expression is frequently met in the inspirational type of literature whose object is to promote understanding and harmony among fellow men.

It is obvious, of course, that in "both sides of the shield" the reference is no modern one. The saying has an old-time flavor, and it is in an old story that it had its origin.

The story is one of two knights who, coming from opposite directions, met in front of a shield, one side of which was gold and the other silver. One knight mentioned "this shield of gold," the other replied, "You mean this shield of silver," until a lively argument developed, with the knights becoming more and more unfriendly. At this point a third knight appeared, to whom the dispute was referred. He was wise enough to "look on both sides of the shield," and the quarreling knights shook hands!

PHYSICIANS ADVISE THIN BLOODED PEOPLE TO EAT MORE LIVER

Hundreds of Thousands Eating Liver to Get Rich Red Blood and Strengthen Vital Forces.

Hundreds of physicians in New York and other cities who have tested and prescribed a diet of beefs liver in cases of poverty of the blood or anemia are now prescribing a preparation called Hemo-Liver which is made by a scientific process from fresh beefs livers.

By this process vital elements that are obtained by eating liver are extracted and put up in liquid form which is very palatable and pleasant to the taste.

Hemo-Liver is full of these potent substances extracted from liver which create rich red blood and strengthen the vital forces of men and women—and by taking a teaspoonful three times a day you'll get as much of the blood and health creating substances as you would get from the eating of much liver.

How a man and his corpuscles may look when his blood is thin and watery and the change that takes place when his blood is rich and red.

Every progressive druggist sells Hemo-Liver in a big 12-ounce bottle that will last eight days.

"Men and women who are suffering from lowered vitality, general weakness, overwork, nervous breakdown or anemia can put their faith in Hemo-Liver. For feeble old people, girls 13 to 18 and in convalescence it won't fail. It strengthens the nerves, increases the red blood cells, promotes health and rebuilds vigor and energy so quickly that often physicians are astonished."

Why not get a big bottle of Hemo-Liver today—eight days' treatment—and if after you have taken one bottle you don't say Hemo-Liver is the greatest health builder you ever heard of—get your money back.

CONSTIPATION PREYS ON HEALTH

You can overcome it with ALL-BRAN

If you are troubled with constipation, read Mrs. Hogan's letter below. It came to us unsolicited—a message of relief to every sufferer:

February 12, 1927

"I want to tell you how much good your ALL-BRAN has done me. It surely can't be beat for constipation. I have tried every kind of medicine and never in my whole life have been relieved until one of my neighbors told me to try bran. So I bought a box and read about your ALL-BRAN and thought I would see what it would do—and it surely did help me. I will never be without it in the house again."

Mrs. James Hogan,
1215 Clay St., Topeka, Kansas.

Constipation is almost universal. The cause of more than forty diseases. Dizziness, aching backs, circled eyes, bad complexions, are only a few of its symptoms.

Guard against it. Start tomorrow eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal. Guaranteed. Doctors recommend it.

A healthful cereal. Serve ALL-BRAN with milk or cream—and add fruits or honey. Sprinkle it into soups. Use it in cooking. Sold by all grocers. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

They're Mine

By Edna Wallace Hopper

Many women in my audiences ask whether my teeth are my own. It probably is natural to wonder whether a woman in her sixties has retained her teeth. Mine are my own and I'm careful of them. I have always been as diligent in cleaning my teeth as I have been in caring for my skin. I used to use a dentifrice, a mouth wash and a deodorant to sweeten my breath.

Edna Wallace Hopper as she looks today

Now I am able to obtain all these necessary guards in a tooth paste, called Quindent, the five-in-one dentifrice. It has a pleasant, mild taste, is an effective cleanser and polisher and, best of all, contains milk of magnesia, which I formerly had to use separately as a mouth wash. This combats the ever-present acids, which are destructive to enamel.

Experts collaborated to produce Quindent. Now you can get it at your local toilet counter. The price is 50 cents for a large tube.

The Turn-Over Sports Sock Is An Interesting Riviera Development—Cardigan Costumes Approved at Cannes.

Cannes, France—The young girl who goes in for tennis or golf, or who has any excuse for so doing, should wear white woolen socks, and turn the tops down around her ankles. This does not mean that she must be bare-legged, for she may still wear long plain stockings. In France, a girl occasionally omits these, but only occasionally.

It is in far better taste to wear sheer wool or lisle stockings, plain or novelty in design, with sports clothes than to wear silk. Two-tone effects in gray, blue, and beige are worn, but the designs are never strikingly apparent because of the tonal blendings.

Sports clothes demand low, or at least relatively low, heels, and one notices here that the smartest women invariably observe this rule. In fact, even with much more elaborate clothes, heels are perceptibly lower.

A Sweater Crocheted in an Open-work Stitch Is of Beige with Sky-scraper Appliques of Matching Crepe Serving as Pockets and Trimming. The Skirt Is of Crepe.

The cardigan suit—that is, the costume completed by a cardigan or coat sweater—is the smartest one here. It must be remembered that there is often a slip-on sweater under the cardigan and that the coat sweater may be without sleeves, a detail hardly noticeable.

Skirts are either of tricot, or of pleated crepe. Group pleatings are highly favored, and these include skirts with fan-shaped inserts of pleating, two front and two back, or with only one centered in front. There are also pleated skirts stitched in a deep V back and front.

Paris' Ideas for Milady's Apparel

Tailored Costume Touched Up; Rich Colors Style for Evening.

When it is a question of how to dress for the street, fashion is determined on an ample choice. Paris has set a new tempo even in this field. Jean Magnin suggests a suit with godets in the jacket fashioned of mauve colored crepella trimmed with fine rucking, and a smoothly fitted back, a hint of the '80s even in street dress.

Henriette Boudreaux has designed a coat of navy rep trimmed with black, red and white cross-barred crepe de chine, and having a skirt which joins the blouse in a diagonal line marked with a double fold of material.

A dress with a little sleeveless wrap, half coatee, half cape, comes from Madeleine Monjaret. The dress trimming and the wrap lining are of a surah in deep plain navy green and red, and the belt is stitched alpaca with narrow leather straps.

Redfern sponsors a white kasha two-piece gown with a bright blue border cut by stitched horizontal bands of white. The stitching on the sleeves carries out this motif also.

The cape is again used by Champcommunal. The cape itself is of plain beige, is longer at the back and is held by a martingale. The suit of plaided material is trimmed with the plain fabric and beige buttons.

Elegance in Formal Dress.

That sophisticated simplicity of which so much has been said lately is evident in all of the artistic and beautiful costumes being shown for late spring and early summer wear. Formal dress has acquired greater elegance and dignity, and that for informal occasions piquancy and fresh youthfulness. Both types this season, observes a fashion writer in the New York Times, are conspicuous for their beauty of color. The simplest frocks use color rather than obvious lines to bring out their designs, most of them being self-trimmed and employing nothing to detract from the charm of the tint itself.

One of the new dance frocks, for example, which is made of vivid scarlet, stands aloof from any suggestion of trimming, its sheer material being laid in a fold along the edges, while a scarf about the shoulders brings out the ivory tint of the skin. One of aquamarine blue chiffon is designed to accentuate the loveliness of natural color when worn by brunettes.

Shades of green are shown in some of the latest dresses from Paris, which are made with a youthful and chic simplicity. Black is having a tremendous vogue abroad and is making its appearance in the best houses on this side.

Amazing results are achieved with the use of all one fabric, drapery having assumed an important place along with color, while the baldly plain chemise type of frock of recent memory is utterly gone. Fine metal brocades are being shown in new designs for evening for the spring season, and the wraps made of them will be good for formal evening dress all summer. Plain satin is used by several leading couturiers, and others are combining with equal success the heavier and lighter materials.

One of Patou's latest evening gowns is made all of ivory satin, the bodice being made with a strap over one shoulder and over the other a fold of the satin, which is carried across the front in a surplice line to be fastened on the hip in a large loop, which has trailing ends. The sweep of fabric in this model gives distinct effect of dignity. Another French designer uses white moire cut on princess lines, the skirt being wrapped around the figure in front and dipping low at the back.

Sheer, Crisp Fabrics.

Sheer, crisp fabrics are having a vogue in a number of delightful new evening gowns of sharply contrasting types. All of these are designed for early summer and reflect many phases of the mode—so many that every woman may fit her individual style and yet be strictly in style.

In these varied costumes some new variants of old-time fabrics are shown along with the novelty weaves. One is a stitched chiffon which has the appearance of monsseline de soie. This Chernit has used for one of her latest and most striking evening gowns, a model in which the full, flaring skirt hangs to the floor in a deep point at the back and the bodice is cut also in a deep V back and front. This line is accentuated with a rippling band of white, unstitched chiffon, with which the bottom of the skirt is finished.

Callot Soeurs make an evening gown of white moire with several narrow ruffles cut to ripple slightly around the front of the skirt and follow the drooping line at the back to form a short train. The upper part of this gown is very plain, fitting the figure in easy lines.

An American modiste combines black transparent velvet and tulle in a supple but much-flounced dress that is longer than usual for this season's mode. In this costume the waistline is marked but a trifle below the normal, with an original yoke effect on each hip outlined in strass embroidery. A gown of different type is made of a new type of velvet for summer wear—one of the latest weaves. This material is shown in all of the evening shades and has a lustrous surface that is beautiful when used in drapery.

Period gowns carry on in many variants, using with distinct success the new summer silks. The original robe de style model with which Jeanne Lanvin established her claim as a designer of artistic dress remains in silhouette, but innumerable new arrangements of the bouffant skirt and new ways of placing trimming on both bodices and skirts are to be seen.

One of the latest of these period gowns done by an American designer has all of the beauty of a flower, which it resembles. The model suggests the old-fashioned princess style, with a narrow panel in front, a V neck and a scallop effect in the bottom. The rest of the skirt is longer than the front panel and very bouffant. It has narrow sections joined to fit closely over the hips and flaring around the bottom, each being rounded in a scallop to give the effect of a flower petal.

Scarf Still Popular.

Scarfs are now included as part of the costume in several styles of dress. They are made in the same material as the frocks and attached to form the neck trimming, while sometimes appearing as a separate item. Daytime scarfs are smaller and less pretentious than those worn last spring. The sports scarf is made of zephyr-weight wool in many chic and lovely weaves. Squares of soft taffeta rather larger than formerly are fringed at two sides, the selvedge edge being left at the other sides. The silk in these squares is one of the novelties, having a twill somewhat like the old-fashioned surah, which has a beautiful sheen but is very soft.

Many of the squares are made in plain colors, both dark and light, and some are in ombre effect and of two-tone "shot" silks. The Deauville scarf is out in a new style. Squares are printed in graceful flowers or in bold modernistic patterns. A scarf of brightly tinted pussy-willow or Japanese silk on which a scroll design is sharply etched in black is exceedingly effective and is particularly smart in white and black.

Some of the latest in this style of scarfs are finished all around the edge with a band of silk or voile in a contrasting color, or in black to match the pattern. The whole idea is most decorative and the scarfs will meet the need of a finishing touch in the simply tailored sports suits and frocks in plain colors for spring and summer.

Scarfs for evening are more fashionable than ever before and are now shown in the finest and most diaphanous gauzes, laces and chiffons. The new tinted laces are as sheer as cobwebs, some having a glint of metal in the pattern. Metallic gauze of the lightest weight, ombre-tinted chiffon and painted chiffon are among the novelties that will be seen with the new evening gowns.

New Veils Are Longer; Also Getting Lacier

Veils are getting lacier and more important at some French millinery houses.

Several famous models are promoting shoulder-length veils, and some show Turkish veils of figured lace swathed around the face and throat. These veils are worn under the hat instead of over them, being draped scarf-fashion over the head.

DAILY RADIO PROGRAM

Wednesday, April 25.

WOR and the Columbia network of stations have sent out invitations to a special radio party which will get under way at 10 o'clock Wednesday night. Ben Selvin, genial impresario, will be host and the entertainers will include Paul Specht and his orchestra, Oscar Grogan, tenor, Segar Ellis, tenor, and Eva Leoni, soprano. WCX-WJR will also broadcast their highlight at 10 o'clock. This will be a schedule of popular selections as interpreted by Sawyer's saxophone concert band. At 10:30 Easton, Pa., will send a mixed quartet before the microphone of WGBS, and WEAF and the Red network will present a tabloid version of the grand opera "Norma." The scene of this opera, which was first produced in Milan in 1831, is laid in Gaul about 50 B. C. "Childhood and Youth" will be the topic of discussion during the Parents' Exposition program which will be made public by WGBS beginning at 9. The speakers will be Dr. Patty Smith Hill, Dr. Ernest R. Groves, Mrs. Sidonie Gruenbert, and Simon Hirdansky. Music will be furnished by the boys' and girls' glee clubs of Horace Mann School. More choral music will go on the air at 8:30 when the Singers Club of Virginia appear before the microphone of WRVA. "Blues" will be the title of the program by the studio male quartet of WIP which may be tuned in at 8. So that the similarity of the present-day blues may be compared with the old time Negro spiritual, the quartet will include several of these religious numbers in their program.

Sacred Mountains

The mountains of Tai Shan in Shantung, Hang Shan in Shansi, Sung Shan in Honan, Hua Shen in Shensi, and Heng Shan in Hunan are held sacred by the Confucianists. In the opinion of most Chinese, Wu Tai Shan in Shansi and Omei in Szechuen are equally sacred. The latter are shrines for Buddhist pilgrims.

STONE RIDGE P.-T. A. HEARD INTERESTING ADDRESS

The Stone Ridge Parent-Teacher Association had its regular monthly meeting on the evening of Friday, April 20. Dr. M. J. Michael of Kingston was to have spoken and it was deeply regretted by the community that his health prevented him from being present. However, the other speaker of the evening, Miss Elizabeth Bain, was present and delighted her audience with her masterly and entertaining address, the subject of which was "Our Respect for Law." In her talk Miss Bain laid stress on the necessity of obedience to both the letter and the spirit of the law. She also referred to the need of better cooperation with our government by more fully exercising our rights of franchise.

Other features of the evening were solos by Harry Palen and community singing by all. During the business program of the evening, President Mrs. R. J. Service appointed Mrs. I. Graham deelgate to the conference at Kingston, May 12. Several communications of interest were read.

At the May meeting of the P.-T. A the officers for the ensuing year will be elected.

After adjournment refreshments were served by Mrs. Milton Elmendorf. It is earnestly hoped that the attendance at the school meeting on the evening of Tuesday, May 1, will equal, if not exceed, this meeting.

"THE MOST APPEALING CHARM of all is a lovely, smooth skin. A screen star's must be the genuine article to triumph in the searching close-ups. Only the slightest make-up can get by those lights—the skin must be smooth."

When the Early Settlers Wanted Hot Water—

When the Pilgrim mothers wanted hot water for household needs it was a slow and wearisome process to procure it. An iron caldron filled with water at the nearby well had to be lugged to the fire place and hung on a crane to heat above the flames.

Thanks to modern science, the housewife of today obtains hot water with no effort at all. A gas storage water heater installed in the home keeps quantities of hot water stored up in an insulated tank, ready to flow forth at the mere turn of the faucet, for every household task.

Sentence Bennett To Dannemora

Charles Bennett of the town of Warwarsing found it did not pay to be dead beat in the pursuit of easy money. Arraigned some time ago on a charge of abandoning his family, including one children, he entered a plea of guilty and Judge Fowler in county court postponed execution of sentence in order to give Bennett an opportunity to demonstrate to the court that he could and would get work and make some provision for his family. However, Bennett failed to make good and Monday afternoon Judge Fowler sentenced him to Clinton State Prison at Dannemora for an indeterminate term the minimum of which shall be one year and three months and the maximum one year and nine months.

Bennett arraigned under an indictment some time ago entered a plea of guilty without securing counsel. Monday afternoon when District Attorney Traver moved judgment in the case Bennett was represented by LeRoy Lounsberry. Mr. Lounsberry stated to the court that Bennett had been a client of his on previous occasions. He did not know Bennett was in trouble and did not appear for him on arraignment. He understood that the court had given Bennett at that time an opportunity to make good and make some provision for caring for his family. He understood that Bennett had failed to make good in supporting his wife and family and he had also been informed that Bennett was in additional serious trouble. He said that Bennett in an effort to get money to pay his wife and family had become involved in further difficulty. Mr. Lounsberry said that it was probable that Bennett had committed certain acts prior to the court giving him a chance to make good which had not been discovered until after the court's action. However these acts had been discovered and matters were complicated. Bennett he said had been in trouble before and was sentenced to Elmira Reformatory, he asked that the court be as lenient as possible.

Assistant District Attorney Cleon B. Murray stated that Bennett had been sentenced to Elmira and when the court had endeavored to give him a new start it had been done for the purpose of being of assistance to Bennett's wife and children. However since that time he had become involved in four charges of burglary, third degree and one grand larceny charge. Since the case arose he had been informed that Bennett was residing with another woman and he suggested that since Bennett had failed to make good sentence be imposed.

An effort to make Bennett go to work and be of some benefit toward the support of his family had prompted the court to take its past action said Judge Fowler but it appeared that the chance had not been taken advantage of and since there was apparently no chance of Bennett's helping his family Judge Fowler imposed the state prison sentence.

CLEARWATER'S TRIBUTE TO TEMPLE EMANUEL

At the request of members of the Temple Emanuel Judge Clearwater's tribute to the members of that congregation herewith is printed:

April 17th, 1928.

To
Dr. Morris M. Rose.
Rabbi, Temple Emanuel,
Kingston, New York.
My dear Rabbi:

I beg to acknowledge the receipt of, and to thank you for the courteous invitation to attend the celebration on Friday, the 20th, of the completion of seventy-five years since the founding of the Temple Emanuel Congregation, and to express my profound regret, that I shall not be able to do so.

Permit me to extend to you and to the members and Congregation of the Temple my warmest congratulations upon the attainment of this seventy-fifth anniversary of your existence in Kingston.

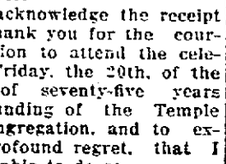

During that entire time, you fully have maintained the loftiest ideals of Judaism, have emphasized the moral law and society as a whole, unfalteringly have proclaimed the divine sovereignty of God, and have denounced the false idols of worldliness. That your future in splendor may surpass your past is the sincere wish of

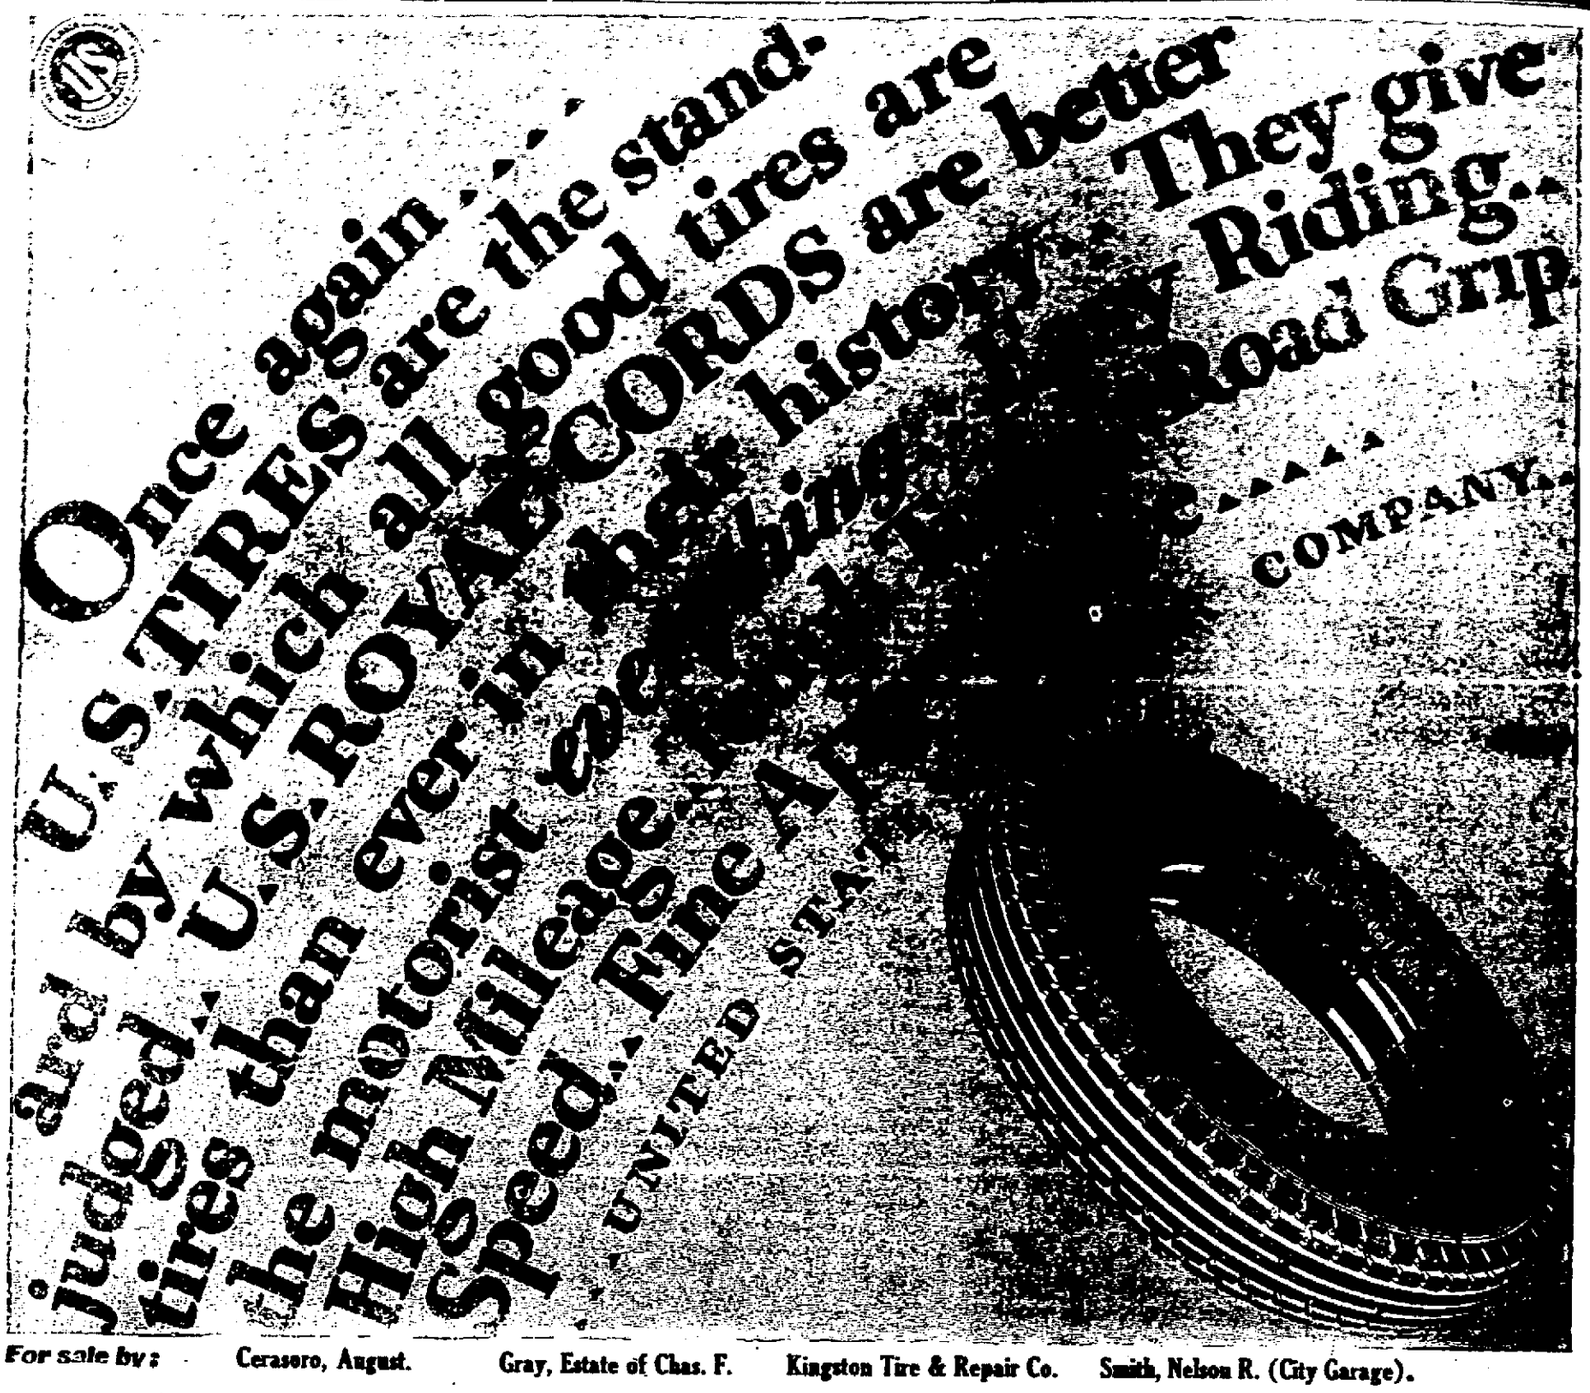

Always yours,

A. T. CLEARWATER.

The party who had been quite obviously celebrating some occasion on other, stumbled into the telephone booth and inserted his nickel in the slot.

"Number, please?" inquired a voice.

The stewed one sat up and opened an eye. "Number, hell, how much do I weigh?"

Teacher: "What does unaware mean?"

Susie: "It's the last thing you take off at night."

Life is made up of getting and giving and forgetting and forgiving.

Asker—"So you're working on an invention that will make you rich?"

Teller—"Yes. It's a phonograph record that will explode after it's played the sixth time straight."

"Some people are so dumb," declared Ragson Tatters, "that they think a can opener can be used to open a jackpot, and that it is possible to shoot crap with an air rifle."

Humor, like history, repeats itself.

A young man is a person who hasn't sense enough to go to bed at night, even when he is sleepy.

Cure for Ghosts.

"Oh, doctor," cried a wild-eyed man, "I am dreadfully afflicted. The ghosts of my departed relatives come and perch on the tops of the fence posts all around my garden when dusk is falling. I can look out into the gloaming any evening and see a couple of dozen spooks sitting on top of the posts, waiting, waiting, waiting! What shall I do?"

"Sharpen all the tops of the posts," came the doctor's cool reply.

A man in a million is one with a million who can go out with a flapper and keep the crease in his trousers.

Lady—Doctor, my husband complains of seeing dots before his eyes.

Doctor—I hardly think that is cause for serious alarm.

"But, doctor, he tries to sign his name on them."

A Kingston man, who has ambitions for his small son's future financial success, has bought him a pair of boxing gloves.

Black: "If you were condemned to die, what kind of a death would you choose?

White: Old age.

She—"What's that?"
He—"A pawn ticket."
She—"Why didn't you buy two, so we could both go?"

Otherwise in Perfect Health.

Mrs. Malaprop Visits the M. D.: "I'm a terribly inflicted woman," sighed Mrs. Malaprop. "First my barnacle tubes were informed; then I had ulsters in my throat. Now I'm troubled with insonomia, and nervous ability. I can't hardly move without breaking out in a prespiration."

Ohio Fight of Chief Interest

(By The Associated Press)

With Presidential primaries on today's political calendar in three states and the Territory of Alaska, the fight in Ohio for delegates to the Republican convention held chief interest, largely because of its bearing on Herbert Hoover's candidacy. Due to a lack of contests, the balloting in Pennsylvania and Massachusetts attracted less attention.

In Ohio one slate of 51 delegates is pledged to the commerce secretary; the other, since the death of Senator Willis, has shown leanings toward half a dozen Republican Presidential possibilities, including Lowden and Dawes.

The Democratic organization slate of 48 delegates in Ohio is committed to former Senator Atlee Pomerene for first choice. It had opposition in only two districts.

Only a few contests were to be settled today at the polls in either Pennsylvania or Massachusetts although Alaskans will have no vote for President in November, the Republicans in the territory resorted to the primary system to select their two delegates to Kansas City, with the Democrats going through the formality of ratifying a slate of six delegates, pledged to support Governor Smith.

In Addition to the four primaries, party conventions were on the day's schedule to complete the Oklahoma Republican delegation of 20, to designate the same number of delegates from Kansas to the Democratic convention and to provide for the selection of the Republican delegation of nine from Nevada.

FREEMAN WANT ADS. BRING RESULTS

Tagging Major League Bases

(By The Associated Press)

"Wild" Kremer has pitched the Pittsburgh Pirates out of the National League cellar a strange resting place for champions.

The six Frenchman blanked the Chicago Cubs with three hits at Wrigley Field yesterday while his teammates were running up six runs. Idle because of cold weather, the Boston Braves exchanged their seventh place post for the Corsairs' ranking at the bottom of the heap.

Kremer held the Cubs in subjection all the way while Pat Malone, rookie strikeout artist, and Art Nehf, once the left handed pride of John McGraw's heart, were pounded for 12 safeties including a home run by Glen Wright with one on base in the first inning. Paul Waner, National League batting champion, shook himself out of a slump with three singles. Malone had the satisfaction of retiring seven men on strikes.

Some weird work by Wee Willie Sherdel gave the Cincinnati Reds a 3 to 2 decision over the St. Louis Cardinals at Redland. Willie did two things in the third inning that he's not often guilty of. He walked a man with the bases full and he made a wild pitch. These two mistakes, coupled with a bobble in the infield, gave the Ohioans all their runs. The Cards bunched hits off Adolfo Luque in the second and sixth innings for single runs. They threatened again in the ninth when Edwards was pitching for the Reds but a double play snuffed out what looked like a promising rally.

Before the game the Reds received the cheering news that Pete Donohue, veteran right hander, had come to terms and been reinstated by Commissioner Landis.

The cold and rainy day saw the American League successful in staging only two of its four scheduled games.

The Cleveland Indians dropped their third decision of the season to the Browns at St. Louis, 4 to 2. Manush's homer in the first and four singles off Shaute in the fourth gave the Browns all their runs. Sam Gray, former Mackman, registered his third victory in four starts.

Owen Carroll pitched the Tigers to a five-hit, three to nothing, victory over the Chicago White Sox at Detroit. The former Holy Cross star issued six passes but good support in the pinches prevented the Sox converting any of these lapses into a score. Bill Cisyell, expensive Sox shortstop, personally accounted for two of the Tiger runs when he threw wild to the plate in the eighth inning. George Connally pitched good ball for the Sox, granting only seven hits and fanning a baker's half dozen.

ARMY SIGNS UP WITH UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS

New York, April 24 (AP).—Seeking to fill the hole left in its schedule by the breaking off of athletic relations with the Naval Academy, the Army has signed a home and home contract with the University of Illinois for football games in 1929 and 1930.

Under the agreement, formally approved by the secretary of war, the Army will travel to Urbana to meet the Illinois in November of next year. Illinois will come east for the return game against the Cadets, either at New York or West Point, in the same month of 1930. The exact dates have not yet been fixed.

SAUGERTIES AND CATSKILL TO MEET KINGSTON PINMEN.

A triangular bowling match in which Kingston, Saugerties and Catskill will compete, will be held at the Y. M. C. A. alleys Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock. Kingston holds wins over both aggregations and expects to show superiority at the meet. The Y. M. C. A. bowlers, who took first place in the City League here, will represent Kingston.

K. H. S. Varsity to Play Highland

The Kingston High School varsity baseball team will open its season against the Highland High School nine at the Fair Grounds Wednesday afternoon. The game is scheduled for 4 o'clock. The public is asked by those in charge of the team to attend the game, which the locals hope will be their first victory towards copping the DUSO League, the accomplishment of last year's nine. The first DUSO game will be played with Newburgh Academy at Newburgh on Saturday.

Kingston's team is entirely new this year with the exception of Captain Joyce and Jones, who had varsity experience last season. However, with hard practicing the team looks good and will make a strong bid for the league honors. Joyce will likely start the game for the Kingston team with Eymann and Burgevin in reserve for round duty.

The Highland team this year has a number of veterans of the past season's squad to depend upon. These boys beat some strong competitors last year, including Poughkeepsie, and expect to make a mark for themselves on the diamond this year.

SCHOOL 5 NINE BEAT MANHATTAN CUTTERS, 18-9

The School No. 5 baseball team beat the Manhattan Cutters at the Athletic Field Saturday. The score was 18-9. W. Thomas was pitching against his father, Al Thomas, but "Bill" Thomas had the better support and his team won. W. Thomas made the men take the showers on strikes 14 times. W. Thomas and Debnoskey starred at bat, the former getting five hits, and the latter four. Al Thomas got four hits for the losers. Willard Thomas won seven straight games this season and his team won three straight. This was the first of a three-game series. The Cutters hope to change the tide in the next game.

Hagen Anxious To Meet Stars

New York, April 24 (AP).—There is more of Walter Hagen on his British excursion of 1928 than has been present on his other five excursions in search of the open golf championship. Whether the addition is to be an asset or liability, "The Haig" is yet to learn.

His actual playing equipment is the same. He still has the bulging bag with spare clubs, extra shoes, several sweaters for use if a cold wind blows up, and one of the biggest of all golf umbrellas as rain insurance.

But this year, the confident Hagen walk will be topped off by a double chin and the turf of Sandwich will be called on to support much more Hagen poundage than was the case when he won his first British open there in 1922.

Hagen can not be called "fat and forty" for he is only 35 years of age, but he is more than pleasantly plump after a winter in which golf has been only incidental to other activities.

Anything lacking in his physical condition, however, may be offset by his mental slant. After what amounts to a long vacation from golf he is anxious to return to serious competition and will match strokes and enthusiasm with all comers.

"Who knows?" he asked, as he was queried on his ideas of winning the title as he sailed for England.

"I might win again, at that. Golf is a funny game. When you think you will, you are just as apt not to, and when you feel that you are pretty sure to come through they may not be able to find you at all at the finish.

"I'd like to be British champion again and I think I have about as good a chance as anybody else. I haven't played any golf to amount to anything this winter, but that won't make any difference.

"Why you have played more golf than I have since November," he said to a reporter.

"Not me," replied the golf writer, shocked into a grammatical lapse by the unexpected charge.

"Well, if you have played at all, you have," insisted Hagen. "All I have done has been to knock the ball around a little. In California I played on even terms with motion picture actors, but when I went up against Charlie Guest and the other pros, and George Von Elm, who is good enough to be a pro, I insisted on a handicap.

The idea of Hagen asking or accepting a handicap causes hearers to smile.

"That's right," he said. "Von Elm started me one up when I played with him.

"I have no idea of entrance of course after my layoff," he continued, "and I won't know where they are going for a while. Of course I have not gone so far back I won't be able to hit the ball, but sitting it and knowing that it will go somewhere close to where you want it to go are altogether two different things.

"I ought to be just right when we get to Sandwich for the championship," the old Hagen said, as his natural confidence in his ability under all conditions drove thoughts of distance and rusty clubs from his mind."

Tennis Tourney At Poughkeepsie

The tennis elimination tournament of the second section of the New York Public High Schools Athletic Association will be held at Poughkeepsie on Saturday, May 19, at 10 a. m. All schools in section No. 2, which includes the counties of Ulster, Sullivan, Orange, Dutchess and Westchester, that desire to enter teams are to notify J. C. Fraser of Kingston High School not later than May 17. He will issue entry blanks and permission to play.

At this elimination tournament three men will be selected to represent section No. 2 in the finals to be played at Cornell University on June 1 and 2. Two of the men selected will compete in the doubles and one in the single matches. S. Kalloch, physical director of the Poughkeepsie public schools, is acting vice chairman for the east bank of the Hudson river, while Mr. Stevens of the Newburgh schools is acting vice chairman for the west bank.

Kingston High School expects to show up well at the tournament. Physical Director Klas is pleased with the report of Mr. Stein, director of music at the school, who is coaching the team, that despite the bad weather recently, the tennis team is showing much progress.

Bowlers' Banquet Enjoyed at "Y"

The bowlers' banquet attended by approximately forty members of the City League, Church League and Mercantile League, was thoroughly enjoyed as was the talk given by the Rev. Mr. Withey, the only clergyman to bowl in the Church League. Prizes were awarded and entry fee checks, deposited at the opening of the bowling season, were returned.

Clarence L. Dumm, member of the Kingston High School faculty bowling team, acted as toastmaster. Sitting with him at the speakers' table were Frank N. "Pop" Hinds, physical director of the Y. M. C. A., who awarded the prizes, Secretary John C. Porter of the "Y" and the Rev. George L. Withey, pastor of the Trinity M. E. Church.

The Rev. Mr. Withey was introduced by Toastmaster Dumm and his talk which dealt with getting much out of sports instead of considering them too seriously met with hearty applause. He had a ready fund of humorous stories to intersperse his ideas of sports which gave his audience many a laugh. In speaking of bowling he said he was the only clergyman to bowl in the Church League but was dropped after the second game. He expressed his regret, in a humorous way, that he was not given a chance to improve the scores of 60 and 90 which he bowled in the two games.

"Pop" Hinds gave a brief talk before awarding the prizes, in which he expressed his hope that next season the teams would again be ready to compete in the various leagues. He also expressed that a summer schedule might be started on the alleys.

The Y. M. C. A. team took first place in the City League and the Immanuels took second. The Clinton Avenue bowlers took first place in the Church League. The Apollo team won the honors of the Mercantile League, while the Fullers captured second place.

Al Studt of the Immanuel team took first prize for the highest average of the City League. He was given a fountain pen and pencil. Bedford of the Y. M. C. A. team took the prize of a silver belt buckle for registering the highest score in three games. Fred Rice of the "Y" team was awarded a fountain pen for having the highest single score. Rice was the only man who could beat Jimmy Smith, world's champion bowler, when he visited Kingston several months ago.

Harry Rieman of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric was awarded the prize for high three games of the Mercantile League and Jonas of the Port Ewen Dairy was high single scorer of the same circuit. Tom Burke, custodian of the Y. M. C. A. alleys, received a pair of cuff links as a prize for bowling the highest alley mark of 254 several months ago.

Charles Petri, Jr., who made some good marks on the alleys during the season, had the misfortune to bowl 74 on one occasion, so he was awarded a small game of tenpins to practice with. In awarding the prize the following poem, written by Walt Neuls, was read:

Here's to Charlie, a bowler of fame,
He bowls and bowls but never the same.
He tried one night to bowl a high score,
But the best he could do was a 74.
So this game we present to him,
So that he may learn to hit the head pin.

The following were present at the banquet: John Wolff, Herman Wolff, Kenneth Van Etten, the Rev. George L. Withey, Charles Petri, Jr., Harry Gronemeyer, John C. Porter, Clarence Dumm, Walter Neuls, George Coley, E. C. Alwardt, Albert Studt, John Spader, Joseph Bruck, Peter Spader, Peter Bruck, Arthur Smith, Robert McAndrew, John Murray, J. S. Closer than a tattooed anchor

P.A. and I are like that. Closer than the paper on the wall. P.A. is so companionable, so genuinely friendly. When you open the tidy red tin, you get a fragrant notice of how friendly it's going to be in a pipe. Then you tamp in a load and apply the match.

Man, that taste! Cool as an Eskimo's front porch. Refreshing as arctic sunshine. Mellow and mild and long-burning, with a full, rich tobacco-body that puts you next to a new kind of pipe-joy. Here's a smoke that you can write home about. It's got everything!

They tell me more P.A. is smoked than any other brand. I believe it, and I think I know why. If you don't know the deep-down satisfaction of a jimmy-pipe and Prince Albert, you've been missing the best bet in the whole tobacco-line. I'm giving it to you straight, Men.

There are TWO full ounces of smoke-contentment in every tidy red tin.

Bell to Star for Boston Braves

LESTER BELL, regular third baseman of the Cardinals for three years, has been released to the Boston Braves in consideration for Infielder Andy High, who is a St. Louisan, and a cash consideration. While the Cardinals obtain Hi High a player who is capable of playing any infield position with the possible exception of first, Manager McKechnie does not plan to use him as regular third sacker. He said that, according to his present plans, High would be used in a utility role, with Wattie Holm as the hot corner guardian.

Lester Bell.

The trade of Bell was not unexpected. While he was hitting the ball hard in his spring appearances, he was miserable afield. In nearly every game he appeared his fielding was erratic.

With a change in scenery, and playing with Rogers Hornsby, under whom, in 1926, he had his greatest season, Bell may be able to return as a star. When the Cardinals won the pennant and world series in 1926, Bell was one of the greatest third basemen in the game. He hit .325, being the team's leading hitter that year, and he also fielded well.

Missing the driving influence of Hornsby, Bell proved a "flop" last year. He batted only .259, and as his hitting declined, so did his fielding. He appeared in 115 games. Even in his best years, however, Bell was not a popular player in St. Louis. He was unmercifully "ridden" by fans on numerous occasions.

The passing of Bell ends a six-year term in the Cardinals' organization. Purchased from Lansing from the Central league in 1922 for a small sum, he was "farmed" to Syracuse, and then to Houston in 1923. He was recalled by the Cardinals that year, and played in fifteen games, batting .373.

In 1924 Bell got into seventeen games with the Red Birds, and then was sent to Milwaukee on option. He was recalled at the end of the season. After batting .365 during these few years, Bell was used as a shortstop.

From 1925 to the present, Bell was a regular with the Cardinals, being converted into a third baseman. His first full season he batted .285. As mentioned, he batted .325 in 1926 and .259 last year. His lifetime batting average is .294. Bell is twenty-seven years of age.

Bell took the release nonchalantly. "It's baseball," he commented. "Though I hate to leave the Cardinals, I feel that the trade will benefit me a great deal. I like to play with Hornsby. They may say what they want about him, but he's always treated me royally, and I think I'll find my new surroundings very agreeable."

Events Around The Empire State

(By The Associated Press)

Moriah—Homer Stone, of this village, is believed to be the first resident of the Adirondacks to try the "Old Swimmin' Hole" this season. He took a plunge a few days ago, just after the ice left the stream, but did not linger.

Saranac Lake—Floods and frost which have played havoc with highways in this section of the Adirondacks have reaped a golden harvest for farmers whose teams have been requisitioned to tow automobiles from the bad spots. Some farmers are reported to have made $50 within a few hours.

Burke—While building a fire a few days ago, James Simpson of this village, mistook a can of gasoline for kerosene and was badly burned.

Saranac Lake—An unusual case of poisoning was reported here during the maple sugar season. John and Edward Landers, while making maple sugar, drank some sap which had stood in sap buckets and became ill. For a time their condition was serious.

Dunkirk—A number of white swans have been noted in the harbor here within the past few days. They are the first seen in this vicinity in several years. The white swan was almost extinct in this state, 20 years ago, and a permanent closed season on these birds has been established ever since.

Saranac Lake —Residents of the Boquet valley near here witnessed a struggle between a small hawk and a large chicken a few days ago. The chicken was larger than the hawk, and although the latter struggled desperately for a few minutes, it was forced to fly away without its prize. The chicken was not seriously injured.

Barcelona—Local fishermen are having record catches of whitefish this season. In one day recently, the catch totalled two tons. The bulk of the catch is shipped to New York city markets, but large shipments also have been made to Syracuse, Utica and Pittsburgh. The season opening was delayed three weeks by huge ice fields in Lake Erie.

LONG HAIR PRIZE WINNERS AT ROSENDALE THEATRE

On Sunday evening, April 29, the seven young women who won special prizes for long hair of different coloring and one who won a general prize for beautiful long hair, will give the exquisite little act which was arranged for them under the management of George Boothby, manager of Luna Park and war correspondent for one of the biggest New York dailies during the World War, going over-seas with the New York 69th Regiment, at the Bijou Theatre, Rosendale.

The contest for prize winners in this long-haired contest was held some three weeks ago in New York city, the judges being the Ogilvie sisters, famous hair experts. Two weeks ago the news reels about the contest were released and now this charming act, will be included in the Kieth Circuit. Father O'Reilly of Rosendale has been fortunate enough to secure these young women for the first number on the Sunday evening program at the Bijou Theatre, Rosendale, the performance beginning at 8:30 o'clock, daylight saving time. The young women and their manager will be entertained at dinner by Father O'Reilly on Sunday evening and will directly after their appearance return to New York city by bus.

The young woman winning the grand prize, for what the Ogilvie sisters considered the most beautiful hair they had seen in twenty years, was Regina Fay. The other seven prize winners were: Jessie Terry for Titian blonde hair; Philo Ruyts for natural blonde hair; Catherine White for auburn hair; Rose McGee for brown hair; Winifred Gilson for brunette hair; Alice Madison for ash blonde hair, and Elvira De Nardouc, a realy-truly Spanish countess in her own right, for dark brunette hair.

TOMMY LOWN SCORES ONE-ROUND KNOCKOUT

Boston, April 24 (AP).—Tommy Lown of New York, one of the greatest amateur boxers in this country, today was well on his way to his fourth national title. He started out in an auspicious manner in the A. A. U. championship tournament last night by scoring a one-round knockout in his trial bout in the 147 pound class.

The New Yorker, lightweight champion in 1925 and 1926 and 147-pound titleist last year, is the only champion who returned here this year to defend his title. The other 1927 champion in the tournament, George Hoffman of New York, who won the 175-pound crown last year, has grown out of the division and he fought with the heavyweights last night.

Lown started his march to his fourth title by knocking out Frank Miller of Buffalo, when the latter missed with a right hook. The New Yorker slipped inside his guard and dropped him with a crushing right hook to the jaw just before it was time for the bell to end the first round.

Right Food for Birds

Varied thrush welcomes the center from a half apple, says Nature Magazine, and leaves only a rosy shell. Finches and buntings enjoy the seeds, while jays and starlings gladly accept scraps of any sort.

Expect Light Vote In Pennsylvania

Few Contests In Primary Election—Principal Contest Involves Democratic Delegates-at-Large To National Convention.

Philadelphia, April 24 (AP).—Pennsylvania voters had an opportunity to express their preference in the state-wide primaries today for candidates for the November election.

Nominations were to be made by the Republican, Democratic, Labor and Prohibitionist parties for United States Senator, Representatives in Congress, state treasurer, auditor general, judge of the superior court and members of the state senate and house of representatives.

The major parties will elect delegates-at-large and district delegates to the national conventions and representatives will be chosen in the state, county, and city committees.

With only a few contests, the campaign was one of the quietest in years and a light vote was expected.

The Republican organization candidates for various offices had little or no opposition and there was no opposition to the organization's slate of seven candidates for delegate-at-large who will go uninstructed to the national convention.

There was a contest on the Democratic side for delegates-at-large to the Houston convention between supporters of Governor Smith as a presidential candidate and those opposed to him. Of the 13 candidates for the eight places, eight were supported by friends of Smith and four of the remaining five were backed by opponents of the New York executive.

Senator David A. Reed, Pittsburgh, was opposed for renomination by William S. Adams, a Harrisburg hotel man, and the Rev. William O. Harper, Philadelphia negro minister, neither of whom has waged any organized fight against him.

William N. McNair, of Pittsburgh, is unopposed for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator.

Rain Cuts Vote In Massachusetts

Presidential Preferential Primaries End Campaign in Which Names of Smith and Hoover Predominate.

Boston, April 24 (AP).—Massachusetts voters today were privileged for the first time in the history of the commonwealth to express, unrestrictedly, their Presidential preferences.

Despite that fact, a quiet campaign in which the names of Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York and Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, predominated in the Democratic and Republican fields, respectively, held little promise of a heavy turnout.

An added damper on the vote was seen in the continued rain early today, which following two successive days of downpour, threatened to cut the vote below normal in the less thickly populated sections of the state.

Governor Alvan T. Fuller's last minute appeal for Republican support in behalf of Hoover was the high light in the closing hours of the campaign. Voting preferences expressed in today's election will not, however, be binding on either delegation to the national conventions. The Democrats will elect eight delegates-at-large and 64 district delegates, each of the latter having half a vote. The Republican will send seven delegates-at-large and 32 district delegates, of whom each will have a full vote.

The Republicans are to be unpledged but many have expressed preference for Hoover. The majority of the Democratic candidates are pledged to Governor Smith.

RIFTON.

Rifton, April 24.—S. Phillips and family and Mrs. E. Frederickson were week-end visitors of W. Walker and family at their farm.

Tillie Knodle is still ill at the City of Kingston Hospital. All hope for a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Feldman and son of Brooklyn were visiting J. Felber.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Ebert and daughter were week-end visitors of Mrs. M. Kunkle.

Men who grow it and men who sell it have asked the public to call the alligator pear the avocado instead. But what shall we call shoes made of alligator hide?

Russia and Poland recently exchanged 38 political prisoners. A political prisoner is a person who has committed the crime of belonging to the wrong party.

Another great household mystery is, when a telephone is picked up twice and put down in exactly the same place, how does the cord manage to develop 21 kinks?

To maintain our great national prosperity we must continue to spend, we are told. To insure our individual prosperity we must save. Now that's all cleared up.

Sealed proposals will be received by the Committee on Tuberculosis Hospital, a duly appointed Committee of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Ulster, New York, at the office of Henry R. May 2, 1928, at which time and place they will be publicly opened and read for the furnishing and delivering of about eighty-five (85) tons of Class B 6-inch Cast Iron Water Pipe.

The proposal shall state price per ton of two thousand (2000) pounds delivered f. o. b. Kingston, N. Y. All pipe to be manufactured in accordance with American Water Works Association Specifications. Each proposal shall contain a statement as to earliest date and rate of delivery.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids or to accept any bid or any portion of any bid which it may be deemed to be to the best interest of the County of Ulster.

LAST NIGHT on the RADIO

Continued static has made radio reception more or less of a misery for several days, more if you like the excessively saccharine programs that have prevailed—less if your appetite for sentimental sweetness is sated or never existed. Such brilliant stuff as "We Will Wander to Spain in My New Aeroplane," and "Rain, Rain Rainy" have clogged the air and fought with the static in a perfect flood of molasses barrel drops for several nights.

Amid static that sounded as though a lot of tin pans were falling down stairs, there were a few tolerable stations Monday night. One of these was KDKA and others were WMSG, WLW, WSAI and WTAM. WGY was clear in spots and there was little fading. DX was strong, but the static was stronger. New stations heard were WPTF at Raleigh, N. C., and WCAP at Asbury Park broadcasting the Rotary district conference dinner program.

When the German and Irish fliers and their plane Bremen arrive in New York their welcome at Mitchell Field and the city's official reception will be broadcast in all detail throughout the nation by WEAF and the Red network, WJZ and the Blue network, WNYC and most likely the Pacific coast stations of the National Broadcasting Company. Graham McNamee, it is planned, will be posted in an observation tower high above the field, while Phillips Carlin will be on the ground to report on the progress of the Junkers plane and to describe the waiting crowd. When Captain Hermann Koehl, Colonel James Fitzmaurice and Baron Ehrenfried Gunter von Huenefeld leave the field to go to the City Hall for the official reception by Mayor Walker and his committee of welcome, announcers will be posted at the Battery, the City Hall, and at points of vantage along whatever route is followed from the field.

Hyatt is driving a seven passenger La Salle sedan. J. A. McCommons of Fair street has purchased a seven passenger La Salle sedan for immediate delivery. The new show rooms for the Cadillac and La Salle in the Governor Clinton Hotel building on Albany and Clinton avenues will be ready for occupancy within a few days. Mr. Ferguson has several cars now on display in the show rooms although alterations are not yet fully completed.

MALDEN MAN DIES SUDDENLY ON TRAIN.

Arthur Knox, aged 48, of Malden died suddenly on a West Shore Railroad train on Sunday, April 22. Mr. Knox boarded the northbound train due at Malden about 11:30 a. m., intending to go to Albany. He was apparently in good health. However, when the train reached Albany it was noticed that Knox did not leave the car with the rest of the passengers, this being the last stop, and when an effort to learn the reason was made he was found to be dead. An ambulance was summoned and the body removed and taken in charge by the coroner, who had an autopsy performed to ascertain the cause of death. The deceased is survived by two brothers, John Knox and Fletcher Knox of Shelton and Waterbury, Conn., respectively.

Feared Flames, Leaped to Death

New York, April 24 (AP).—Two panic-stricken sisters leaped to their deaths rather than risk the fate of a young boy who was suffocated in a tenement fire in the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn early today.

The parents of the girls were in a serious condition from the smoke inhaled while neighbors cared for other children. The fire spread so rapidly that occupants of the upper floors were trapped until firemen effected rescues with ladders. Many were unconscious when removed. More than a score were treated either at hospitals or by police surgeons.

Miss Annie Stalloni, 22, oldest of six children, leaped from a third floor window and was impaled on a picket fence. Her sister, Eleanor, 14, crept away unnoticed and jumped from a window at the rear of the house. Her unconscious form was found hours later and she died soon after reaching a hospital.

The dense smoke took the life of Angelo Barbera, 5. Panic also contributed to his death for his parents remained at windows and were saved while the child lost himself in the smoke-filled apartment.

WET ASSOCIATION WILL SEND REPRESENTATIVES.

New York, April 24 (AP).—The Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, in its campaign for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, has announced it will have representatives appear before the resolutions committees of both the Republican and Democratic conventions.

Major Henry H. Curran, president of the association, will be the spokesman before the Democratic committee at Houston, and Captain William H. Stayton, chairman of the association's executive committee, will appear before the Republicans at Kansas City.

Curran declined to say what action the association would seek from the two political conventions.

King George Hits Target.

Lulworth, Dorset, England, April 24 (AP).—King George, known as one of the best shots in his kingdom with a sporting gun, proved today that he is no novice at using heavier weapons. After watching a special demonstration of the New Royal Tank Corps of which he is colonel-in-chief, the king doffed his gold-braided field marshal's cap, put on a black beret, climbed into the tank, and then proceeded to hit the target twice with three pounder shells.

Miners Attack Picketers.

Springfield, Ill., April 24 (AP).—A clash between pickets and union sympathizers was reported from the old West mine of the Panther Mining Company near here today. Incensed at being called "scabs" the miners launched an organized attack on picketers, and drove them from the roadways near the mine.

British Budget Shows Surplus.

Junior Order May Play All Concerts

Firemen Heard Monday That Citizens' Band Will Not be Allowed to Split City Concerts This Summer With J. O. U. A. M. Band.

Although it was stated at the office of the board of public works this morning that no official notice had been received from the Citizens' Band that it would not be allowed to split the city's summer concert with the Junior Order of American Mechanics' Band, it was brought out during a discussion of "fair" and "unfair" music at the meeting Monday evening of the general committee in charge of the firemen's convention that the union band would not be permitted to divide the concerts with the Mechanics' Band, which at present is on the "unfair" list of the union.

At a recent meeting of the board of public works the board considered the application made by the Mechanics' Band to play half of the series of summer concerts, and awarded the summer band concerts by giving four of the proposed concerts to the Mechanics' Band and the other four to the Citizens' Band, which has played the entire series for several years. The ninth concert of this year's series the board left to the two bandmasters to decide which band should play it.

It is understood that if the Citizens' Band refuses to play half of the series of concerts if the Mechanics' Band plays the other half that the board of public works will take no action in the matter and it is likely that if the union band refuses to play half the series that the entire series will be awarded to the non-union band.

The board of public works, it was stated on good authority this morning, will not discriminate between any band which is composed of citizens of the city of Kingston, and if a union band refuses to play because of a non-union band receiving the contract for half of the concerts that was a matter strictly up to the band which raised objections. The board is paying the regular union wage for its music and only demands that the music furnished be up to the usual fine standard of past years, irrespective of whether the musicians are union or non-union.

CENTRAL HUDSON WOMEN'S ORGANIZATION MEETING

The Women's Organization of the Kingston Division of the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation held its third monthly dinner meeting in the Home Service Auditorium, 5 Field Court, Monday evening.

Twenty-five girls, representatives from Catskill, Rosendale and Kingston, were present at this dinner which was in charge of Miss Mabel Germer of Kingston and Miss Harriet Pettit of Catskill. Miss Ethel Kline of the Kingston Service Department gave an instructive talk on "Meters and Red Seal Wiring." Miss Edna Knappen from the Kingston office and Miss Butler from Catskill, acting on the entertainment committee, kept the girls "simply in stitches" most of the time.

Another interesting feature was a demonstration given by H. Eltinge and E. Craw of the Operating Department on the "Prone Pressure Method of Artificial Resuscitation." Mr. Eltinge emphasized the importance of obtaining and being able to practice this knowledge if necessary.

This meeting proved very successful.

MISS HELEN BRITT STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE MONDAY.

Miss Helen Britt of Cherry Hill Farm, in the town of Ulster, was struck and knocked down by an automobile driven by Mrs. Rena Farrington of 101 Green street, on Monday at Broadway and Railroad avenue. In reporting the accident to the police Mrs. Farrington stated it was unavoidable as the girl stepped directly in front of her car. Miss Britt said she was uninjured and refused to go to a hospital or see a doctor, according to Mrs. Farrington.

At police headquarters where she reported the accident Mrs. Farrington was placed under arrest by Chief Wood, who charged her with operating an automobile without having a license to drive a car. The hearing was adjourned to Saturday morning.

Mrs. Johnston Severely Burned.

Mrs. Henry Johnston of Hurley was severely burned Saturday night when she fell at her home while carrying a pot of steaming hot tea. Dr. H. P. Van Wagenen, who was called and attended her, found very severe scalds extending from the abdomen to the ankle. Her condition is improving nicely.

Corning, N. Y., April 24 (AP).—Failure to stop after he collided with an automobile in Bath today caused the arrest here of a man who gave the name of Eugene Smith, of Snyder, and the discovery of 400 bottles of whiskey, cognac and champagne valued at $4,000 hidden in his automobile.

Holy Name Rally Postponed

The Ulster county rally of the Holy Name Society scheduled to be held in Saugerties, Sunday, April 29, has been postponed until Sunday, May 6. The reason for postponing the rally was because of the closing of the men's mission at St. Joseph's Church, this city. The mission will close in the afternoon at 3 o'clock, which would prevent the Holy Name Society of that parish from attending the rally.

It is expected that over 1,000 men will attend the rally at Saugerties. They will represent the Catholic parishes of Ulster county. The men will hear prominent lay speakers and clergymen at a program to be held in the Orpheum Theatre Sunday, May 6, at 3 p. m. After the ceremonies there the Holy Name Societies will march to St. Mary's Church, where solemn Benediction will be sung.

The major portion of the rally representatives is expected to be from Kingston. St. Mary's, St. Peter's, St. Joseph's and the Immaculate Conception parishes will likely send large delegations as their Holy Name Societies are big in membership. At a special meeting held by St. Mary's branch Sunday evening it was estimated that 250 members of that society would attend.

TWO MORE EARTH SHOCKS ROCK DEVASTATED CORINTH

Athens, April 24 (AP).—The devastated city of Corinth was rocked by two more earth shocks this morning, and Corinthians must seek homes elsewhere.

Four Greek ministers who went to the stricken district returned today and said they considered the city ruined beyond repair. Reconstruction on the same site was impracticable especially since this was the second time in seventy years that Corinth had been destroyed.

The damage was estimated at 6,000,000 drachmas ($750,000). The death toll was set at thirteen.

The government sent food, tents and two steamers to serve as a temporary refuge for the homeless and destitute.

General Metaxas, minister of communications, said nothing but a heap of ruins remained at Corinth. Not a single house could be repaired and those houses which threatened to collapse must be razed immediately.

The American Red Cross offered tents and medical supplies for 15,000 persons.

It is expected that a large number of Kingston people will travel to Highland to see the show.

Material for Bunting

Buning is usually a woolen fabric loosely woven from long staple wool. It is much used for flags and other trimmings which are exposed to the weather. There is an imitation fabric also called bunting made from cotton, but this does not withstand weather as does the woolen material.

Financial and Commercial

New York, April 24 (AP).—The line of least resistance in today's stock market was again downward although speculators for the advance made repeated efforts to turn the tide of prices and succeeded in lifting about a dozen issues to new high records. Wall Street apparently was convinced that the increase in Federal Reserve rediscount rates will become general and, for the moment at least, regarded that as bearish on stock prices.

Except for the publication of several earnings reports, which were mixed in character, there was little in the day's news to influence the price movement. After a relatively firm opening, the tobacco stocks were again under pressure as a result of the recent cigarette price cuts although the morning declines of about 5 points each in the active issues were partially recovered by early afternoon.

Violent fluctuations again took place in Delaware and Hudson, which opened at 213, rallied to 221¾ and then broke to 208½ in the early afternoon. This brought about sympathetic declines in the other rails although New York Central, Wabash common, Western Maryland and Rock Island had sold 2 or more points above yesterday's final quotations in the early trading.

U. S. Leather issues were strong on the publication of an unusually favorable first quarter report. Southern Dairies A, Continental Baking A and Mexican Seaboard Oil also were conspicuous in the early advance.

Bear traders continued to seek out weak spots among the specialties. Coca Cola broke 5 points and International Harvester, Freeport Texas and Bethlehem Steel preferred sold off 2 points or more. General Motors forfeited an early gain of 3 points and recessions of 1 to 2 points took place in a number of other recent strong spots.

Named for Discoverer

The island of Juan Fernandez bears the name of its discoverer. The Spanish navigator came upon the deserted island in the year 1563. He took possession of it and made a settlement there of 60 Indians and tried to establish a fishing station. He soon failed and returned to the mainland, leaving on the island a few goats, whose descendants have been its principal inhabitants ever since.

Stewart Received Bonds from Osler

Indiana Standard Oil Head Testifies One-fourth of Continental Trading Company Profits Were Turned Over to Him Despite His Protest.

Washington, April 24 (AP).—Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, today testified before the Senate Teapot Dome committee that he was awarded a one-fourth share of the profits of the Continental Trading Company of Canada, even though he had protested that he did not want the money.

Stewart said H. S. Osler, president of the Continental, handed him packages of Liberty bonds at various times totaling $759,500. Previously he had decided to set up a trust fund and place one-half of the securities each to the credit of the Sinclair Crude Oil Company and the Standard of Indiana.

The oil man, who is under indictment for once having refused to answer committee questions, agreed at the outset to reply to any queries directed at him.

The winess said he turned over the bonds to Roy J. Barnett, a tax expert for the Standard, who was to act as trustee for the fund.

"Those bonds remained in the vaults of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana until last Saturday," Stewart continued.

"When I got to Chicago that day from Washington, I called in the directors of the company and Mr. Barnett and had the box opened.

Turned Over to Sinclair Company.

"I explained the whole transaction to the directors and they decided that the bonds should be turned over to the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing Company."

The Purchasing Company is owned jointly by the Standard of Indiana and the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Company. It bought half of the oil the Continental obtained from the late A. E. Humphreys of Denver. This oil was later turned back to the Sinclair and Standard Companies at a profit of 25 cents a barrel, although Stewart guaranteed the Continental's contract, along with Sinclair and others.

Continuing his recital, Stewart said that as the coupons fell due Barnett clipped them and he cashed them, turning over to Barnett an equal amount of other Liberty bonds.

HUDSON MAN CHARGED WITH KILLING WIFE.

Teckler Huren, aged 25, Polish, wife of Peter Huren, was beaten to death in the kitchen of her home at Hudson, N. Y., Sunday night. Huren is being held by police as the slayer on information furnished by their three children, who told of a quarrel between the parents.

Huren was found, after a search, hiding in the rear of the house. He confessed having an argument with his wife but talked incoherently of another man whom he hit with his fist, he said. He apparently had been drinking heavily. Mrs. Huren died of a fractured skull. Pools of blood were on the floor, where she lay, from gaping wounds in the back of her head.

Upon close questioning by police, after a search of the house failed to reveal any instrument with which the murder could have been committed, Stella, six-year-old daughter, said her mother had been hit with a pitcher. She identified a heavy, bloodstained, glass pitcher as the one when it was produced.

LOREE TO TELL MANAGERS LATEST DEVELOPMENTS.

New York, April 24 (AP).—Leonor F. Loree, president of the Delaware and Hudson, will lay before the company's board of managers, at its regular meeting tomorrow, the latest developments in the eastern consolidation program, it was declared in railroad circles today.

The decision of the executives of the four eastern trunk lines to oppose Loree's plan for a fifth eastern system has raised the question whether the Delaware and Hudson will dispose of its Lehigh Valley and Wabash holdings. Although Loree has declined to discuss the matter, reports have been current in Wall Street that an advantageous offer for these holdings has already been made.

According to preliminary tests conducted at the University of Southern California, the moist weight of the hump-backed whale's brains is about 4.4 pounds. The range for the human brain is between 43 and 49 ounces.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Of Course She Could Have Anything—but

It must have been her birthday. The young couple stood before the jewelry counter of a downtown store, looking over the stock that ranged from diamonds to cuff pins.

"Now, dear," he was heard to say to his fair companion, "this is your present, so anything you want I will get. You pick it out and I buy it; that's all there is to it. Just look everything over and then tell me what it will be."

She beamed on him. Could anything in the world be sweeter? Her eyes left his face and went back to the trays of jewelry. Suddenly, with a gasp of delight she held up a fragile string of beads.

"Oh, Harry, look! Could I have this? I just love it," she exclaimed. Harry, thus addressed, looked it over beneath drawn brows.

"Well, now I don't know, Mary," he answered slowly. "I really don't think you would care for that. You would probably break it first thing. Those beads don't last long. Let's look down the line farther and see if you don't find something you would really like."—Indianapolis News.

Consistency of Nature

Nature is always consistent, though she feigns to contravene her own laws. She keeps her laws and seems to transcend them. She arms and equips an animal to find its place and living in the earth, and at the same time she arms and equips another animal to destroy it. Space exists to divide creatures, but by clothing the sides of a bird with a few feathers she gives him a petty omnipresence. The direction is forever onward, but the artist still goes back for materials and begins again with the first elements on the most advanced stage; otherwise all goes to ruin. If we look at her work, we seem to catch a glance of a system of transition.—Emerson.

Floods Damage Southern States

Atlanta, Ga., April 24 (AP).—River banks in parts of five southern states [illegible] scores of towns and villages, and caused millions of dollars damage.

Georgia, Alabama, Florida, Mississippi, Arkansas and Tennessee felt the [illegible] of rising waters in the [illegible], with Florida presenting the [illegible] spectacle in the situation of Caryville. More than six hundred residents fled [illegible] as the [illegible] Valley inundation caught them almost unawares. They received food and [illegible] at Bonifay, [illegible] away.

Partial reports from isolated areas showed that four persons had met death. The [illegible] that had its inception in almost unprecedented rains of last week, and today had demoralized railway and highway traffic, and affected thousands of acres of spring crops.

Georgia appeared to have borne the brunt of damage. Cordele reported four railroads into Florida and Alabama paralyzed and all highways blocked. Eight and a half inches of rain fell at Blakely, now isolated, in five hours.

Many Alabama towns were isolated, including Andalusia and Castle Berry, where three passenger trains were marooned. Milstead, near Montgomery, the capital, reported that the Tallapoosa had risen 15.6 feet and was surging higher.

In Mississippi the Pearl river had risen to 28.8 feet near Jackson, and was flooding low areas of the town. The Tombigbee was 28 feet and still rising at Columbus, with lowland crops ruined.

Western Florida and southern Alabama damage was estimated by Pensacola, Fla., authorities at around $500,000 while from isolated Graceville, Fla., came word that roads and bridges were washed out, and crops in that territory lost to the extent of about $200,000.

Paragrapher Akin to Ancient Court Jester

This republican counterpart of the king's jester is the newspaper paragrapher and paragrapher-cartoonist. His development, and the privileged character of his position in our system, constitute one of the most impressive curiosities of modern journalism, Albert Jay Nock writes, in Harper's Magazine.

No more exact parallel to the primitive institution could be devised. The paragrapher has inherited all the jester's privileges, neither more nor fewer, and exactly the same set of expectations are put upon him.

The freer his speech to the sovereign lord, the closer and shrewder his approach to the plain, natural truth of things, the more he is appreciated and applauded. The wider his experience of human nature and the closer his interpretations come to the risidual common sense of mankind, the more firmly, by common consent, he is fixed in his job. The more profound and subversive his implications, the stronger his position at the republican sovereign's court.

Moreover, there is no one to contest or to share his privileges; he is a unique figure in a unique function. If the prophet, the publicist, the professor, lecturer, or so-called public servant undertook to assume his liberties and prerogatives he would at once come to grief in an avalanche of general disapproval.

They Sing

Illustrative of the importance that music plays in the life of Welshmen, there was a war-time anecdote which told of eight Britons who were found in a dugout after a 12-hour bombardment. The two Irishmen were still fighting, the two Scotchmen were holding a debate, the Englishmen had not been introduced, but the two Welshmen were busy organizing an oratorio society.

No Medium of Exchange

A small colored boy was called on by one of his white neighbors to do an errand for her. After it was done she smiled graciously and said:

"Much obliged, Bill."

Bill looked at her fixedly and queried:

"Miss Mollie, what store is that what I kin git candy for 'much obliged'?"—Youth's Companion.

[illegible] Sergeant Bauvier of East [illegible] must show cause at a special session of supreme court at Kingston May 5 why he should not be [illegible] in contempt for failure to pay alimony, totaling $3,155.5[illegible], under the terms of an order filed Monday at Troy and signed by Justice Pierce H. Russell at special session of the supreme court.

Mrs. [illegible] Louise Bauvier of New York city was granted an absolute [illegible] by Judge Hasbrouck in the [illegible] county supreme court May 24, 192[illegible]. Bauvier had been ordered to pay his wife $[illegible] a month and when the decree was signed, the amount was continued as alimony.

The alimony was modified, however, on December 3, 1927, when Justice G. D. B. Hasbrouck stipulated that Bauvier pay $533.33 a month.

A show cause order was issued against Bauvier by Justice Ellis J. Staley, February 4, 1928, for contempt in failing to meet payments. It was returnable March 1, but when it was reported that Bauvier was out of the state and could not be served, the order was extended to April 4. On that date he was still reported out of the state.

A similar order was issued by Justice Charles E. Nichols on July 30, 1927, when Bauvier paid up two months' arrears.

"WOT'S GOTTEN INTO HIM?"

Mother's Cook Book

The "luck" that I believe in
Is that which comes with work;
And no one ever finds it
Who's content to wish and shirk.

The men the world calls "lucky"
Will tell you every one,
That success comes not with wishing
But by hard work, bravely done.

PUT ON A FEW FRILLS

IT COSTS thought, rather than very much money to send foods to the table with the attractive garnishes that make hotel meals so delightful for the average "home folks." There is really no good reason why even a fairly busy housewife should not treat her "home folks" to prettily garnished dishes.

Dietitians, psychologists, neurologists, all agree that food does more good, is more readily digested and assimilated, if eaten in pleasant surroundings, in a pleasant mood, and if it is appealing to the eye as well as to the palate. The garnish, in other words, is as much a matter of good digestion as of style.

The garnish should be edible as well as pretty, whenever possible, and most garnishes, with the exception of the frilled paper tips placed on chops and crown roasts, are good to eat.

Asparagus Mousse.

Cook one bunch of finely cut asparagus with some of the three-inch tips removed, and cook separately one cupful of medium white sauce, one tablespoonful of gelatin, one-eighth teaspoonful of grated nutmeg, one-fourth teaspoonful of paprika, one cupful of stiffly whipped cream. Soak the gelatin five minutes in two tablespoonfuls of cold water, add to the hot diced asparagus and the white sauce, blend well, add seasonings, fold in the whipped cream and pour into a well-wetted mold and let chill several hours. Unmold on lettuce, garnish with asparagus points dipped in French dressing. Serve with mayonnaise. Increase the amount of gelatin if made in hot weather or molded in a large mold.

Chestnuts and Ham.

Alternate thinly sliced cooked ham and mashed chestnuts in a baking dish, season with sage or marjoram and bits of butter. Finish with the chestnuts on top. Bake until brown.

Mashed chestnuts as a vegetable are delicious; serve with sausage.

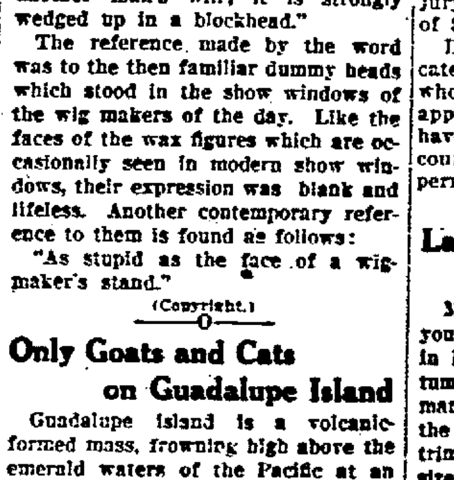

Chestnuts with apples make a good combination for salad. The nuts may be either cooked or simply blanched and sliced.

THE WHY of SUPERSTITIONS
By H. IRVING KING

LENDING MONEY, GAMBLING

GAMBLERS are among the most superstitious people on earth. A very common superstition, even among those whose gambling consists of an occasional game of poker or bridge, is that he who lends money while at play will lose; and he who borrows will win.

The origin of this idea can be found in the law of chances—a purely mathematical proposition. A man has been playing for some hours, say, in excellent "luck" and has a pile of chips before him. The man next to him has been "bucking the tiger" for an equal length of time and is down to a couple of chips, perhaps. Suppose each to be as skillful as the other at the game. Results depend on the deals. Now the time has come when by the law of chances, the winning man should begin to hold bad cards and the losing man good ones. The loser says to the winner, "Lend me a stack of your chips." The winning man does so and, as it is about at the turn of the tide, soon begins to lose, while the borrower begins to win. Then the man who has loaned the chips attributes his "turn of luck" not to the operation of the law of chances but to the "hoodoo" of lending while at play.

How It Started
By JEAN NEWTON

"BLOCKHEAD"

FOR the origin of this word which is used constantly to describe some one who appears to us to be extremely stupid, one whom we want to call a dunce, we must go merely to our old friend Shakespeare. It is in his "Coriolanus" that he coined the word as follows:

"Your wit will not so soon out as another man's will; it is strongly wedged up in a blockhead."

The reference made by the word was to the then familiar dummy heads which stood in the show windows of the wig makers of the day. Like the faces of the wax figures which are occasionally seen in modern show windows, their expression was blank and lifeless. Another contemporary reference to them is found as follows:

"As stupid as the face of a wigmaker's stand."

Only Goats and Cats on Guadalupe Island

Guadalupe island is a volcanic-formed mass, frowning high above the emerald waters of the Pacific at an elevation of 4,523 feet. It is 21 miles long and is located 140 miles off the coast of northern Lower California, about 250 miles south of San Diego. At present it is uninhabited—lonesome, dreary, barren, forgotten.

Legend tells us that early Spanish explorers introduced goats on Guadalupe. Today possibly fifty thousand progeny, wild offspring of tame ruminants, roam over the island and keep every vestige of vegetation closely shaven.

In later years, whalers left a few domestic cats ashore. These have multiplied to not less than forty thousand. They have turned desperately savage and are still increasing. The bird life of the island, except where the nesting grounds have been chosen against the possibility of pilfering cats, has ceased to be.—Field and Stream Magazine.

Custom Too Strong

Cromwell, and those associated with him, endeavored to prohibit the use of wedding rings of any sort—even those of iron—but the "heathenish practice" could not be put down.

All Set for Big Shriners' Ball Wednesday Night

The Shriners have engaged a special railroad car to bring the entertainers from New York city for their big entertainment and ball Wednesday evening in the armory for the benefit of the Industrial Home.

That the affair will be a huge success is an assured fact. The entertainment will be one continuous revelation as every number on the elaborate program is a headliner in itself. It is an absolute certainty that the Police Glee Club will make a tremendous hit and Kingstonians can consider themselves fortunate in being able to have the opportunity of hearing them.

On the program in addition to Miss Ann Mack, lyric soprano, and William Simmons, distinguished baritone, will be a goodly number of other high class acts now playing on Broadway, New York city.

The armory is being delightfully decorated by the R. G. Hill Company, decorating specialists of Albany and will present a wondrous appearance.

The music will be of the very finest with George Olsen's orchestra of eleven pieces, famous for their Maxwell Coffee House Hour broadcast, and Paul Zucca's greatly augmented Kingstonian orchestra. They will play all the very latest dance numbers.

An extra large number of chairs have been provided which will take up the entire armory floor so everyone will be able to not only see and hear but enjoy in comfort the splendid program.

Wednesday night will surely be a night of delight spent with the Shriners.

Owing to the large number of acts on the program the doors will open at 7 o'clock, concert from 8 to 8:30 o'clock and promptly at 8:30 the entertainment will start.

BAUMES LAW BEFORE
APPELLATE DIVISION

Binghamton, N. Y., April 24 (AP).—The constitutionality of Section 222 of the Penal law of New York state, one of the Baumes laws, which permits a prisoner, accused of a felony, to plead guilty and be sentenced to prison without having been indicted, will be argued before the appellate division, third department, at Albany, next month.

The constitutionality of the law will be upheld by Attorney General Albert Ottinger and District Attorney Urbane C. Lyons of Broome county. They will be opposed by Dennis W. Hunt, Syracuse attorney.

If the law is held to be unconstitutional, it is said that more than 30 prisoners sentenced under its provisions must be released and their cases re-presented to grand juries in various counties. Most of those affected were sentenced from New York city.

The argument will revolve about a test case, that of Patsy Battista, of Endicott, whose release on bail raised the question of the law's constitutionality.

Battista was arrested in March, 1927, on a charge of burglary, third degree. It was charged that he and an accomplice broke into the home of Mrs. Cora Brooks, in Endicott.

He was arraigned before Supreme Court Justice Leon C. Rhodes at Binghamton, a few days later, and on his plea of guilty was sentenced to Elmira Reformatory without having been indicted.

After he began serving his sentence, Mr. Hunt appeared before Supreme Court Justice Joseph D. Senn and demanded his release on the ground that he had been illegally sentenced.

Justice Senn held that the law under which Battista had been sentenced was unconstitutional, violating that section of the state constitution which sets forth that charges of felonies or certain specified misdemeanors must be considered by a grand jury. Battista was released in bail of $1,000.

District Attorney Lyon communicated with Attorney General Ottinger, who decided to carry the case to the appellate division. The case was to have been argued at the past term of court but was adjourned until May to permit further investigation.

Lace Trimming Feature of Afternoon Frocks

Maybe you're wondering whether you can express your feminine delight in lace in your smart afternoon costumes for spring. You can! For many of the most stunning frocks for the new season are charmingly lace trimmed. Ecru shades are emphasized in lace, but it is especially smart to match the lace to the fabric, especially beige georgette with beige lace, and flesh georgette with flesh lace.

Flowers Bloom on Hats

Long before the first real violet stuck its head above the turf the flowers started to blossom on the hats. The hat flowers are made of delicate feathers, crepe de chine or kid. One of the latest novelties is to wear the same kind of artificial flowers on the hat as on the dress. The trimmings in the main are placed on one side only and allowed to drop over the shoulder.
